The Air Minister will receive the same salary as the Minister of National Defence, $12,000, including automobile allowance.

'In Good Heart'

LONDON (CP)—A statement issued by military quarters tonight said: "Latest reports reaching London show the British Expeditionary Force is fighting well on positions assigned to it and is in good heart. To the south of the British front the situation is still obscure, but German claims are known to be based on the limits reached by small motorized detachments."

New Nazi Falsehood

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty spokesman announced tonight that no British transports or tankers had been sunk in the Strait of Dover Monday night. The German communique today had claimed the sinking of six transports and tankers in those waters, aggregating 43,000 tons.

Alarm Near London

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry announced that an air raid warning was sounded in east Kent, east of London, "this evening."

Urge Internment

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Prince George post of the Army and Navy Veterans today forwarded a resolution to the federal government asking it to intern immediately all enemy aliens in Canada.

NAZIS STILL PRESS

PARIS (CP - Havas) — The French high command's communique tonight said:

"In the region north of the Somme the enemy, continuing his pressure, succeeded in pushing advance elements to Amiens and Arras.

"On the west of the front the situation was without change, in spite of local efforts by the enemy.

"There was intense activity of our scouting aviation and our bombing formations which, with the collaboration of naval dive bombing units, ceaselessly harassed enemy troops on the ground.

"The minimum number of enemy planes which the French air force and our anti-aircraft guns alone shot down in our lines during the period from May 10 to 19 is now fixed at 303."

Women Quit Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR (CP) — Women and children of Gibraltar began to leave for French Morocco today under a compulsory scheme of transfer.

Gloucester Injured

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Gloucester, brother of King George, was reported tonight to be suffering from cuts caused by bomb explosions on the Franco-Belgian front. Both hands also are badly bruised.

For three successive nights the duke was in areas which were heavily bombed.

Last September the duke, with the rank of major-general, was appointed chief liaison officer to the British field forces in France.

Earlier today it had been announced the Duke was in England on "urgent duty."

Waterfront Protest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Protest against the employment of "enemy-born persons and their sympathizers" on the Vancouver waterfront has been sent to the Dominion government and the shipping federation by the Vancouver Longshoremen's Association. It is said employment of enemy-born persons in the industry "is a potential menace to the safety and welfare of the country."

U.S. Warships on Tagus

LISBON (AP) — Additional United States warships are expected in Portuguese waters, it was reported here this evening.

A new naval squadron, it was said, is coming to replace the one now on the Tagus River, but both will be here for several weeks

Woodsworth Unchanged

OTTAWA (CP)—Condition of J. S. Woodsworth, Co-operative Commonwealth Confederation leader who suffered a stroke at a party meeting here Saturday, was reported this afternoon as not greatly changed, but as satisfactory as could be expected. His physician, Dr. R. S. Stevens, described it as "hopeful."

'Nazi Fliers Butcher Refugees'--Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt today declared German planes were sweeping down the roads of France with machine guns wide open, taking a death toll of refugees the like of which never has been seen before.

He said he thought the United States would realize the implication of that method of warfare.

His remarks were part of a general discussion of the defence program at a press conference at which he laid down three points of policy:

1. He does not want to see a single war millionaire created in the United States as a result of what he termed the war disaster abroad.

2. He does not think labor will or would seek to take advantage of the current emergency situation, where it would hold a tactical advantage through the power to strike, to seek higher wages or privileges withheld from labor without such power.

3. The government proposes in no way to weaken social gains made in the last few years.

'Patriotism Is Not Enough'

Those Who Failed France to Be Punished

Reynaud Tells Senate Of Errors at Meuse

PARIS (CP-Havas) — Premier Paul Reynaud today told the Senate how the Germans broke through.

Reynaud said bridges over the Meuse were not blown up as a result of mistakes that will be punished. He said:

"The country is in danger."

"No shortcomings will be tolerated. There will no longer be any dilatory procedure for traitors, saboteurs and cowards.

"The first of my duties is to tell the truth to the Senate and the country.

"You know that the fortifications which protected the country could be divided in two parts—the Maginot Line from Basel to Longwy on the Luxembourg border, and the line of lighter fortifications running from Longwy to the sea.

"Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg having been invaded, the left wing of the French army left its fortifications between Sedan and the sea and, pivoting on Sedan, went into Belgium on a line running from Sedan to Antwerp and even Bois-le-Duc (Hertogenbosch) in Holland.

"Facing this situation which had been foreseen and discounted, what did the enemy do?

"He launched a formidable attack against the hinge of the French army behind the Meuse between Sedan and Namur. The Meuse, a river of difficult aspect, had wrongly been considered a redoubtable obstacle for the enemy. This is why the French divisions charged with defending it were few and therefore stretched out thinly along the great length of the river.

Entrusted to Gen. Korap's Army

"Also, there had been placed here General Korap's army composed of divisions less solidly organized and less trained than the best troops, which had been attached to the wing marching into Belgium.

"But if the Meuse is a river of difficult aspect, that is precisely when it is difficult to defend. Flanking machine gun fire is impossible, and, on the other hand, infiltrations are easy for manoeuvring troops.

"Add to this that more than half of the infantry divisions of General Korap's army corps had not yet reached the Meuse, even though they had a shorter movement to make since they were closer to the pivot.

ENEMY USED BRIDGES

"That is not all. As a result of inconceivable mistakes, which will be punished, the bridges across the Meuse had not been destroyed. Over these bridges passed panzerdivisionnen, preceded by fighting planes, on their way to attack divisions which were scattered, badly organized, and badly trained against these attacks.

"Now you understand the disaster, the total disorganization of General Korap's army.

"That is how the hinge of the French army was blown up. When the day before yesterday I arrived at the War Ministry, I was joined by Marshal Petain and General Weygand."

When Marshal Petain's name was mentioned the Senators shouted "At last" and rose to applaud the Hero of Verdun.

"What was the situation? A breach 100 kilometers (62 miles) wide was opened in our front. Through this breach poured the German army, composed of armored divisions followed by motorized divisions which, after opening a large pocket in the direction of Paris, moved west toward the sea, outflanking our entire fortified system of the Franco-Belgian frontier and menacing the Allied forces still engaged in Belgium, to whom the retreat order was given only in the evening of May 15.

"Day before yesterday an armored division had reached the line Quesnac, Cambrai, Peronne, and the Somme up to Ham. During the last 48 hours, the German advance has continued. This morning at 8, the high command informed me that Arras and Amiens were occupied. How did we come to this?

Spirit of Army Proved in Belgium

"Is the moral value of our army involved? Not at all. The fighting which took place in Belgium in the first days proved it. The truth is that our classic conception of the conduct of the war has come up against a new conception.

"Basically this conception is not only the massive use of armored divisions, not only co-operation between armored divisions and combat planes, but also the determination to disorganize the rear of the enemy by raids in depth by parachutists who in Holland also took The Hague and in Belgium took the strongest Liege fort.

"I do not speak to you of false news and orders given by telephone branches of the civil authorities, for example, to provoke precipitate evacuations.

"The Senate understands that of all the efforts at recovery which are imperative, the first for us is of an intellectual order. It is necessary to think of the war as a new war which is made against us and to take immediate decisions. This is not the first surprise which we have had to surmount in our history.

Recalls Recovery Of 1914-1918

"At the beginning of the last war we fought in spite of the inferiority which resulted from the lack of heavy artillery. We suffered from too small a number of machine guns. We underwent a great surprise from that unfair weapon — gas. Nevertheless, we replied, we adapted ourselves, and we ended by winning.

Death for Those Who Fail in Duty

"No shortcomings will be tolerated. Death is a feeble enough punishment for any failure against the vital interest of the country. While our soldiers are dying, there will be no more dilatory procedure for traitors, saboteurs or cowards. No private interest has the floor. Let us all raise ourselves to the height of the misfortunes of the country."

The Senate then adjourned.

French Fight Parachutists Attacking Bridges, Stations

PARIS (AP)—Small detachments of German motorcycle troops have penetrated the outskirts of the Abbeville region, near the English Channel, a French spokesman said tonight.

The city of Abbeville is on the Somme estuary 12 miles from the English Channel and about 25 miles west of Arras and Amiens, which Premier Reynaud during the afternoon announced were in German hands.

The spokesman said the Germans had thrust long points (advance units) of motorcycle soldiers along chosen roads to the west of Arras and Amiens.

German planes, the spokesman said, bombed and machine-gunned these roads, and also others, which were packed with civilian refugees.

A war ministry official said "light" German elements of 3,000 to 4,000 men pierced the Allied lines to take Amiens and Arras.

FRENCH HOLD CAMBRAI

The front became "completely confused," he said, with French forces still holding Cambrai, east of Arras, and still behind German advance positions.

"I do not think Abbeville itself has been taken, but I can give no official confirmation," this official said.

There was no mention of any Germans reaching the English Channel.

The spokesman said general headquarters had been "out of communication" with General Henri Giraud for 48 hours and he could neither confirm nor deny German reports that the general had been captured.

Some of the general's staff was acknowledged to have been taken prisoner.

Troops From Sky Landed in France

PARIS (CP-Havas) — Parachutists in such numbers as to constitute a veritable army have been drifting down behind the French lines with telling effect, military quarters here said tonight after Premier Paul Reynaud has revealed for the first time that Germany was using parachute troops in present operations.

The parachutes have come down at many points in the French rear, it was learned. Carrying incendiary and explosive materials in addition to their regular arms, they have attacked bridges, railroad stations and public buildings.

A semi-official report said "the whole region behind Cambrai," east of the German thrust through Arras and Amiens, "is being burned systematically, by incendiary bombs."

R.A.F. Pounds Enemy Troops In Confused Fighting

LONDON (CP)—An air ministry communique tonight announced:

"Yesterday, Monday morning, Blenheim aircraft carried out a successful attack on armored vehicles in the Arras-Cambrai area.

"In the afternoon heavy bombing attacks were made in the Arras-Baptume area. All our aircraft returned.

"During the night a large force of Royal Air Force bombers attacked troop concentrations in the Cambrai-Le Cateau-St. Quentin area.

"In the forts of Nuvion, north of the Aisne (river), a successful attack was made on enemy troops.

"Several large fires were started in this area. From these operations five of our aircraft failed to return.

"Today, Tuesday, our bomber and fighter aircraft have been continuously engaged in operations over the confused fighting fronts in Belgium and northern France."

BEHIND LINES

Earlier today an authoritative spokesman said the western front battle was "more confused than ever, with everybody behind everybody else's lines."

The spokesman declared bands of German tanks are "wandering about, living on the country," in a wide salient thrusting into France, and added that they are "becoming more vulnerable to counter-attack."

Inside this salient, marked out by the farthest points of the German advance, he said, "the French hold many places from which they are delivering counter-attacks."

The spokesman said the effect on morale of the German tank assaults was lessening with realization among the rank and file of the defenders that the tanks are being destroyed.

He said the Royal Air Force is doing "great work in adding to the confusion behind the German lines through the bombardment of communications and petrol dumps."

GASOLINE DESTROYED

He asserted a number of gasoline storage tanks have been destroyed and that the Germans got "practically no oil" in the Netherlands because of the work of Allied demolition squads.

The general staff's communique describing Monday's fighting announced the Allied forces in Belgium successfully beat back "repeated attacks" by German tanks in "the area south of the River Scarpe and against Scheldt positions."

The 25-mile-long River Scarpe flows eastward past Arras and Douai in northern France to the Belgian frontier.

PHONE SERVICE OUT

Telephone service between Britain and the continent has been suspended since 7 last night. This was understood to be due to heavy requirements for government and military purposes.

The German thrust in the northern area around Saint Quentin appeared directed toward possible springboard positions on the Channel for raids against the United Kingdom, but the general headquarters communique indicated the British Expeditionary Force there was putting up stout and effective resistance.

The air ministry described successful Royal Air Force attacks on oil refineries in northwestern Germany and a steady pounding with bombs of communication lines of the German mechanized offensive.

AIR LEAD THE KEY, SAYS THE TIMES

LONDON (CP)— The London Times, in discussing the military situation today, said:

"The plain reason for the dangerous position into which the Allied armies have been forced is not a failure of strategy or valor, but a deficiency of material.

"The German onrush could have been stayed and their future defeat can be secured only by overcoming their immense superiority in the air."

Louvain Library Again in Ruins

WITH THE GERMAN WESTERN ARMIES (AP) — Historic Louvain library, destroyed during the last war and rebuilt with contributions from North American schools, is in ruins again, American newspaper correspondents have found.

The building was gutted by fire. Its 700,000 volumes must be considered lost. All floors were swept by the blaze. From the basement wisps of smoke still rose during the correspondents' visit.

This Is War . . . Ready to Leave But Couldn't

All ready to flee the terrors of war, this Belgian woman was caught by fate next to the wagon she had prepared to take her to safety. Here she lies in the roadway of a town "somewhere in Belgium," a grim reminder that modern warfare spares nobody. Cabled from London. (Acme radio-telephoto).

Louvain—Once a Town

Here's what a Nazi "blitzkrieg" attack does to a once proud town as Louvain, Belgium, lies in bleak ruins after wave after wave of German bombers left scarcely a wall standing. Passed by British censor. (Acme radio-telephoto).

GERMANS CONTINUE CLAIMS OF GAINS

BERLIN (AP) — This forenoon's communique of the German high command said:

"The biggest attacking operation of all time in progress in the west, after a number of great individual tactical successes, is yielding the first operative effects.

"The 9th French Army, which was on the Meuse between Namur and Sedan to hold and maintain connection between strong enemy operation groups in Belgium and the Maginot Line south of Sedan, has been crushed and is about to be dissolved.

(In London a military spokesman said the situation "is more confused than ever, with everybody behind everybody else's lines," but there has been no indication that any engagement of a decisive character has been fought.)

"The army staff and General Giraud, hitherto commander of the 7th French Army, who assumed command over the 9th Army, have been captured.

(There was no confirmation of this claim in Paris or London. Gen. Henri Giraud is the commander of the Allied forces opposing the German advance in the "Battle of the Bulge.")

SAY ABBEVILLE REACHED

"German divisions flow into the breach forced by the German thrust. German armored cars and motorized troops at their head took Arras, Amiens and Abbeville.

"Thus the Germans began crowding toward the Channel coast all the French and Belgian armies still to be found north of the Somme.

"In Belgium our troops attacked the enemy, which again accepted the fight east of Ghent and farther south of the Schedlt River. Enemy attempts to force a way out southward from the Valenciennes region foundered.

"On the southern wing of our attack, German troops, as previously reported in a special announcement, took Laon and Dames as far as the Aisne-Oise Canal.

(Laon, 75 miles northeast of Paris, was evacuated by the French and occupied by the Germans without fighting. All attempts by the Germans to cross the Aisne have been repulsed, it was announced in Paris.)

CLAIM RETHEL

"Here, during a defence against French counter-attacks, numerous armored cars were destroyed. The city of Rethel, which was still controlled by enemy units, was taken.

(There was no comment in Paris regarding the city of Rethel, but numerous enemy attacks in the vicinity of Rethel were repulsed.)

"The air force shares outstandingly in the victory of the army.

"The air force, through complete control of the air, through destruction of river crossings and traffic connections, and through attacks on marching and transport columns, speeded up dissolution of the 9th French Army.

(The Air Ministry in London announced the Royal Air Force had caused heavy German losses in battles fought with "matchless courage" against the numerically superior German air forces.)

"All attempts at endangering the flanks of our break-through were nipped in the bud.

(The expected Allied counter-offensive on the German flanks has not yet been made. The Allied commander, Gen. Maxime Weygand, is now believed to be assembling his forces for this undertaking.)

SEA CLAIMS

"During reconnaissance over the sea before the French coast one French destroyer, the French navy tanker Niger of 5,482 tons, the French freighter Pavon and two additional freighters were seriously damaged.

"In the course of the night in the Dover-Calais Strait, six transports and one tanker, with a total tonnage of 43,000, were sunk by bombs, and four additional ships of approximately 13,000 tons were severely damaged.

(None of the above claims of Allied losses at sea were confirmed.)

"Total losses of the opponents in the air yesterday amounted to 47 planes. Fifteen German planes were missing."

(The Royal Air Force losses yesterday were two bombers and 14 fighters. Thirty German planes were destroyed by the R.A.F.)

DEATH PENALTY FOR TREACHERY

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill announced today that a bill carrying the death penalty for treachery will be hurritd through its second and third readings tomorrow to hasten its enactment as a move against any "fifth column" activity.

The Prime Minister said a bill covering the new local defence volunteers — a home guard against the threat of parachute invasion—will be introduced in the House of Commons tomorrow. He asked that it be enacted the same day.

Mr. Churchill assured James Maxton, Independent Labor, that if any attempt had been made to suppress criticism or opposition in the Commons, it was apparent that it already had failed.

The Speaker told William Gallagher, Communist member, that he would do his best to see that all sides were heard.

Britain Loses Cruiser at Norway

LONDON (CP) — An official statement today said:

"The secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce that, as a result of damage sustained through striking an uncharterd rock off the Norwegian coast, H.M.S. Effingham has become a total loss. There were no casualties."

The Effingham, of 9,770 tons, and armed with nine 6-inch guns, was the first cruiser Britain has announced as lost in this war.

The Rawalpindi, sunk November 25 by the German pocket battleship Deutschland off Iceland with the loss of 280 men, was a merchant steamship converted to an armed merchant cruiser.

The Effingham's normal complement was 749 officers and men.

MINELAYER LOST

The sinking of the minelayer Princess Victoria by a German mine with four officers and 31 men missing and feared lost was also announced by the Admiralty.

Eighty-five survivors were landed at an east coast port yesterday. Twenty-four required hospital treatment.

An authoritative spokesman today said four British merchant ships totaling 8,955 tons, one Allied vessel of 316 tons and three neutral ships totaling 5,737 tons, were sunk "by enemy action" during the week ended May 12.

"Some Dutch tonnage inevitably was lost as a result of the German invasion of Holland," he said, "but many Dutch vessels escaped."

NAZIS LOSE SHIP

The Admiarlty, at the same time, issued a report that the 4,541-ton German steamship Campinas was sunk by a mine May 10. It said this brought the total known German mercantile losses to approximately 630,000 tons.

An additional five German ships totaling about 25,000 tons were "considered sunk as a result of submarine operations," it was said.

The source estimated the total sinkings of enemy ships, whose names and exact tonnages have not been ascertained, amounted to 190,000 tons, and the total German losses of 820,000 tons—approximately 20 per cent of Germany's pre-war tonnage.

Allies Moving Towards Narvik

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A shortage of ammunition in the German garrison at Narvik, Norwegian ore port besieged by strong Allied and Norwegian forces, is reaching a critical stage, and occupation of the city by the attackers is imminent, reports from the Swedish frontier said today.

These reports indicated the Germans might resist to the last man rather than surrender or retreat into Sweden.

NEW POSITIONS

NEW YORK (AP)—An official Norwegian communique, broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation today and picked up here, said "German troops have taken up new fortified position on a plateau north of Narvik . . . and have ceased fighting in the area between Narvik and Trondheim."

NAZI CLAIMS

BERLIN (AP) — A special communique from the German high command today said:

"An attack against units of the British fleet operating off Narvik was highly successful. A battleship, probably of the Resolution class, received two heavy bomb hits near its forward turret, and a heavy cruiser was hit between its fighting top and the forward funnel."

(This claim was not confirmed in London. The Admiralty does not usually comment on these claims, since the Germans usually make them in the hope of obtaining information on British naval movements).

Alberni Wants Nurses

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Establishment of a public health nurse service as well as a school nurse service was sought here today following a meeting of the city council and the school board. The school board is attempting to obtain a financial grant from the city and from the B.C. government for this development.

Diggon, had made arrangements for the upkeep of the gardens, which the sisters were unable to maintain. A gardener is now working on the lawns and the trees, cut into shapes of animals and birds.

'Battle Cannot Defeat Allies'—Duff Cooper

LONDON (CP)—Alfred Duff Cooper, Minister of Information, told his countrymen tonight that while the present war news is grave, there is "no cause for great alarm."

Acknowledging German success, he declared nevertheless "the army of Great Britain, and still greater army of France, are still there."

He said three facts could be definitely stated and that one of them is that "the armies of Great Britain and France are undefeated."

"As I told you last week the end of this battle, whatever it may be, cannot entail the defeat of Britain and France," he said.

"Meanwhile, it is up to each one of us to bear our part."

He warned again against rumors, denouncing one which he said was current to the effect that the Premier of France had expressed fear of defeat. On the contrary, said Mr. Duff Cooper, France is "superbly confident."

WILL BE TONIC

"These grave events will act, as they have already acted, as a tonic to the nation."

He added that the House of Commons now is "united as perhaps it never has been."

"We are all engaged in a great battle. We here behind the lines must bear our part and let the soldiers know that behind their steady lines is a calm, faithful and a united people," he said.

"Through successful employment of a new technique of war, small bodies of the German army have succeeded in penetrating great distances, but they are small bodies only, and the successes they have achieved have involved them in fearful danger.

"The army of Great Britain and the far greater army of France are still occupying the battlefield and they are undefeated . . .

"Three facts alone can be definitely stated.

"The first is that the present objective of the enemy is the Channel ports from which he hopes to launch war on this island.

"Secondly, that small parts of his mechanized troops have succeeded in eluding their opponents in advancing great distances and coming near to their objective.

"Thirdly, that the armies of Britain and France are undefeated. In enormously superior numbers they occupy the battlefield and the counter-attack when it comes should prove formidable.

"The swaying fortunes of the fight matter little. It is the end of the battle that counts and as I told you last week the end of this battle, whatever it may be, cannot entail the defeat of Great Britain or France in the war."

Italo-Jugoslav Border Closed

SKOPLJE, Jugoslavia (AP)—The frontier between Jugoslavia and Italian-held Albania was closed late today by Italian order.

News of the border closing was received here shortly after the announcement in Rome that Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano was leaving for Tirana, capital of Albania.

Reports filtering across the frontier to Jugoslav military quarters here said the Italian army had speeded up transport of large quantities of war materials across the Adriatic to the Albanian port of Durazzo.

Although it is reported only 70,000 Italian troops are now in Albania, it is said that barracks, storehouses and arsenals are being built on 24-hour shifts, leading to the belief in Jugoslav military circles that a large number of troops soon will be sent there.

Albania could be a starting place in the event of an Italian push toward Salonika, which, military experts say, also would be the goal of Allied air, sea and land forces in the case of war in the Mediterranean area.

Churchill Sees King

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was received tonight in audience with the King.

British Envoys Talk Trade in Rome

ROME (AP)—Two representatives of the British ministry of economic warfare, J. W. Nicholls and Sir Wilfred Green, are expected in Rome tonight to try to iron out trade difficulties, particularly the question of permitting Italy to import raw materials to build up her war stocks.

The British representatives are believed to be seeking satisfactory assurances that supplies admitted to Italy will not reach Germany.

Diplomatic reports that Britain and Italy had almost settled their trade problems tended to offset the tone of war expectancy in the press and counteracted to a certain extent anti-Allied demonstrations in Rome last night.

Solid ranks of troops and carabinieri were kept on duty until early today around the French and British embassies and the British consulate after they had prevented the anti-Allied demonstrators last night from reaching the buildings.

After breaking through a cordon formed by carabinieri and several hundred feather-hatted bersaglieri, who came on the run, a crowd of about 1,000 persons swept into the Piazza Venezia waving Japanese and Italian flags. The Japanese flags were in prominence because a Tokyo delegation is in Rome for trade talks.

Full Report Given on Canada's War Effort

Navy League Appeal

The Canadian people will be asked to financially aid the work of the Canadian and British navies and the mercantile marine, starting in September, according to announcement made today in Victoria by David H. Gibson of Toronto, president of the Dominion Council of the Navy League of Canada.

The council has an urgent request to this effect from the Duke of Kent, president of the King George Fund for Sailors, and from Rt. Hon. Lord Lloyd, president of the Navy League of Great Britain.

These two distinguished Navy League workers in England are anxious that the people of Canada, particularly in the naval ports, should contribute to the work among British sailors. Money donated will be used for comforts for the men, hospitalization for older sailors and assistance to dependents.

Recruiting to Start For 3rd Division

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's war effort is to be speeded up through a series of new government decisions ranging from the appointment of two additional cabinet ministers to enlistment of a third division.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the acceleration of the national war program last night as he sketched for the House of Commons the government's war record to date. At the same time he informed the House the war would cost the people of Canada at least $700,000,000 in 1940-41—not $500,000,000 as estimated three months ago.

The address in reply to the speech from the throne was adopted without a dissenting voice before the commons adjourned last night.

The additional steps, which Mr. King detailed in a day of rare speed in the House, are "being translated into action," he said. These include:

Advancement of the date of dispatch overseas of the 2nd Division of the Canadian Active Service Force and further reinforcements of the 1st Division.

Early enlistment of 2nd Division reinforcements.

Formation of a Canadian corps in the field.

Dispatch overseas of No. 112 Army Co-operation Squadron, R.C.A.F., as a reserve for No. 110 Squadron now overseas.

Assignment at the request of the United Kingdom government of certain naval and military forces to service in the Caribbean and North Atlantic areas.

Plan Speed-up For Air Force

Adoption of "every feasible method" of accelerating the output of pilots and air crews from Canada.

Conferring special powers on the ministry of munitions and supply, "which would not be accorded in normal times," so it can expedite the provision of war equipment and materials.

Increased attention will be assured the air and munitions branches by appointment of two new ministers, one as air minister, the other as minister of munitions and supply. The portfolios of transport and munitions have both been administered by Hon. C. D. Howe.

Certain methods have already been formulated by the Canadian government, both to accelerate and supplement the British Commonwealth air training plan in Canada, in order that pilots, observers and air gunners may be made available, more quickly, for active service, he said. Steps have been taken in order to expedite the preparation of airdromes and hangars.

DEEDS REQUIRED

The Prime Minister said "decisions are being translated into action."

"Deeds, not words," were what the people of Canada were looking for at the present moment, the Prime Minister said.

"The greatest crisis in human record is not the place for partizanship."

"This was no time for self justification, self villification," the Prime Minister said. The character of the enemy had been unmasked in all its barbarism.

Mr. King said he would undertake to give an indication of what the government had done, what measures were now being taken, and what further measures the government would propose. However, there were some things which could not, "for reasons which will be obvious," be revealed at this time."

New Problems Of War Met

In placing the government's war record before the House, the Prime Minister said all he asked was that the record be considered in proper perspective and as a whole.

He reviewed how Canada's status had changed since the last war, how the problem of defence has been revolutionized by the new range of military forces, especially the great rise of air power.

Military power "is no longer measured by numbers of men enlisted," Mr. King emphasized. Development of air power had, for instance, increased the necessary emphasis on home defence, especially the defence of Atlantic ports.

Expenditures on the Royal Canadian Air Force and the Canadian Navy now, compared with 1914, indicated in some degree the difference in the picture. However, too full an account of expenditures might not be fitting at the moment since that might indicate the detail of the expenditures.

War Outlays Doubled Since 1914

In the first eight months of war, Canada had spent more than twice as much as in the first eight months of the last war. The estimate of $500,000,000 for Canada's war expenditure for 1940-41 had now been revised to $700,000,000 and might be increased further.

This meant $2,000,000 a day for Canada's war effort alone. This year for all purposes the government would spend more than $1,100,000,000, or more than $3,000,000 a day.

Estimates for the current fiscal year would provide $100,000,000 for naval purposes, which was some 30 times the amount spent for naval purposes in the same period of the first Great War and three times Canada's total naval expenditures for the whole of the first Great War.

GREAT ORDERS

The Dominion's industries had received war orders totaling $275,000,000 to date, of which $200,000,000 constituted orders from Great Britain and her Allies and $75,000,000 worth of orders from the Canadian government.

Canada now had 20 shipyards engaged in building war vessels, and the construction program was "well in advance" of schedule.

There were under construction 82 airdromes and 175 other construction projects, including coastal defences and air raid defences.

The government had on order 9,000 motor vehicles at a total cost of $14,000,000. Some 3,000 such vehicles had already arrived overseas. War munitions orders totaled $80,000,000, and construction of a large explosives plant was under consideration.

In addition, said Mr. King, the production of small arms was being expanded as rapidly as possible.

A study was under way for the increased use of Canadian materials in so far as was possible.

Men in Navy To Total 11,450

As of May 10, 1940, the strength of the Royal Canadian Navy stood at 952 officers and 5,662 ratings, including some 200 officers and men attached to the Royal Navy. The proposed total strength eventually was 1,450 officers and 10,000 ratings.

Present strength of the Royal Canadian Navy was seven destroyers, 15 minsweepers, six anti-submarine vessels, 15 fishermen's reserve vessels, 51 Other Auxiliary vessels, three high-speed merchant vessels now being converted into light cruisers, and 90 vessels under construction, 54 of which were patrol vessels and 18 minesweepers.

As for the Royal Canadian Air Force, the Prime Minister reported the personnel of that service as of May 10, separate and distinct from the British Commonwealth air training plan, was 1,389 officers and 10,926 airmen, including army co-operation, home defence personnel and those preparing for international duties under the air training plan.

One army co-operation squadron was already overseas and a second squadron was under training.

The home defence branch of the service was nine squadrons at present and three additional squadrons will be detailed to similar duties.

Total strength of the Canadian Active Service Force was 81,519, said Mr. King.

This included the 1st Division, now in England, of 23,438 with ancillary troops and 240 personnel at Canadian headquarters in London, making a total of 23,678.

100,000 Canadians On Active Service

Strength of the 2nd Division would be 24,645. There was also a personnel of 16,282 in various depots, some 9,036 engaged in coastal defence works, 1,665 guarding vital centres and 6,223 engaged in various other duties. It could be said more than 100,000 were on active service.

DEFEND ATLANTIC

Reinforcements would be provided from 11 territorial units being organized, he said. Canadians were aiding in defence of Newfoundland "and other points in the Atlantic area."

Recruiting for the C.A.S.F. would continue, said the Prime Minister. Navy recruiting would be governed by the acquisition of additional vessels, and R.C.A.F. recruiting was linked with the air training plan.

The air training plan was carefully organized on a long term basis and could not be arbitrarily altered without full consultation among Canada, New Zealand, Australia and the United Kingdom, he said. There were some 110 units already in existence.

New units were being formed almost every week, according to the schedule of the plan.

In these years the scheme called for total expenditure of $600,000,000, of which Canada's part would be an estimated $350,000,000.

It would require 40,000 officers, airmen and civilians to operate the scheme.

MISUNDERSTANDING

An apparently common belief that slow progress was being made arose from lack of understanding of the size and intent of the scheme.

The public did not appreciate the full size of the plan, "the greatest individual effort the Dominion has ever made."

Plan Developed In Great Britain

The plan was not worked out by Australia, New Zealand and Canada, but in the United Kingdom.

It was geared basically to British aircraft production schedules. For that reason the British government preferred a training scheme which would produce a large number of trained men at a later date rather than a smaller number earlier.

The contribution of the United Kingdom to the air training scheme was to be "in kind, in such numbers and kind as are necessary to the efficient carrying out of the scheme." This was opposed to a common impression in Canada that Canada was to supply the aircraft. The British authorities felt the efficient prosecution of the war would be best achieved by adhering to the air plan laid down, accelerating it where practicable.

PRODUCTION SPEED-UP

Production must be accelerated to the limit, training must be intensified, Mr. King continued. For the efficient, persistent and fit[illegible] defence and triumph of the Allied cause this was essential.

Mr. King said the government had taken all possible steps against sabotage by propaganda and other means.

Two appeals were made by the Prime Minister. He urged that all citizens of foreign extraction should be impressed fully with the fact that Canada and the Allies are fighting for the freedom they now enjoy. He also urged the public to refrain from "persecution and panic action" against those who share our citizenship and our ideals.

SPEED SHOWN

By adopting the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne last night the House exceeded the speed in which it got down to work in the emergency session last September.

Faced by the Prime Minister's request to members not to indulge in "time wasting procedure" and a declaration that the war appropriations bill must be taken up not later than Wednesday, the House adopted the address without a dissenting voice at 9.37 p.m.

The House sat only some 10 minutes after the regular adjournment hour during which several resolutions were introduced.

By consent of the House Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of Finance, was permitted to advance one stage three resolutions including that on the war appropriations measures calling for expenditure of $700,000,000 on the war effort during the current fiscal year.

Other resolutions advanced included that which precedes introduction of Col. Ralston's formal measure authorizing borrowing up to $750,000,000 for refunding and other purposes, and another having to do with extension of the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act in Manitoba.

The Britannia Fragments will be at the Three Services Hut on Broad Street Wednesday evening at 8.

Reynaud Speaks

ALTHOUGH IT WOULD BE FOLLY TO attempt to create a feeling of optimism which is not justified by fact, the statement which Premier Reynaud made in Paris today, packed with admissions of failure and shortcomings as it obviously is, reminds those who are fighting for the right that in times gone by the soul of France has been severely tried—but France has survived. Taken at its face value, and its sincerity serves to emphasize its naked truth, the head of the government of the French republic has found inferior staff work responsible for much of the condition in which the Allied forces in France now find themselves in the face of a numerically-superior and more efficiently-mechanized and utterly ruthless enemy. M. Reynaud spoke of bridges not blown up which should have been destroyed to prevent or delay the Nazi thrust at the frontier, of the "incredible" and "inconceivable" mistakes that would be punished—giving his solemn assurance that "there will no longer be any dilatory procedure for traitors, saboteurs and cowards." And then he spoke of Weygand, the man of Foch who stopped the German army in 1918, the man who is on the field of battle today and in whom he and vice-Premier Petain have the utmost and unqualified confidence.

While M. Reynaud was speaking the German juggernaut was rolling on toward the Channel ports—long the dream of those who have wanted to crush Britain. What will be the outcome of this rapid movement of the Nazi legions, what will be the fate of an Allied army which lies to the north of the thrust seawards, we may know before this is read. For the moment we are confronted with the truth of the French Premier's admission that "our classic conception of the conduct of war has come up against a new conception—motorized raids in depth and parachutists." M. Reynaud calls for an immediate effort of an intellectual order, for new decisions that must be made at once; and, thinking of 1914, he recalled: "We ended up by winning after initial reverses." With that in mind, therefore, he urges every man and every woman to understand the "seriousness of the hour through which we are living." It is well he should not use a minor key to sound the warning to his beloved France. He knows, as the French people know from bitter experience, that the 1940 German invader is not the German invader of 1870 or the German invader even of 1914; his diabolical conception of military victory knows no depths. This is the rallying cry to Weygand's armies—the warning to all who have seen how Hitlerism works.

It is the warning also to the people of Great Britain. They will play the part which is expected of them. They are strengthened in their resolve to meet this savage beast by their knowledge of great deeds by their sailors and their airmen in the last nine months. The British Navy and the Royal Air Force are their sure shield. The statement of the French Premier likewise is the warning to all the European states not already at war to look to their own readiness to meet the challenge from Germany, or Italy, or both. Nor can it be said that the 21 republics of this hemisphere were omitted from M. Reynaud's thoughts when he said that "there are millions of far-off men, women and children who are beginning to understand that it is a question of themselves and of their own futures—may they not come to understand this too late!" It is neither pleasant nor easy to write these things. But only the truth is of value in times of gravity. It is for us to steel ourselves against the trying days which must precede the turning point to the victory that will eventually be won.

Accelerate to the Limit

AFTER PRIME MINISTER KING'S statement in the House of Commons yesterday the Canadian people should feel much more at ease about the contribution this Dominion has made, is making, and will continue to make on a still more ambitious scale than ever, to the British Empire's fight against Hitlerism. Two million dollars a day in the next fiscal year is to be spent for war purposes alone, while ordinary expenses of running the normal services of the country will account for another $1,000,000—or $3,000,000 every 24 hours. The outlay in the next 12 months, in other words, will equal a trifle more than Canada's total debt.

Nor will the Canadian people object to the monetary sacrifice already involved and now about to be extensively increased. They realize, as their representatives of all shades of political thought in the House of Commons realize, that a German victory would spell the beginning of the end of all that is decent and wholesome, not only in the British Empire but also in countries which still cling to a way of life that permits men and women to think and act as peaceful and progressive people were intended to think and act. As the Prime Minister very properly pointed out in his statement to Parliament, military power at this stage "is no longer measured by men enlisted." Development of air power had, for example, increased the necessary emphasis on home defence, especially the defence of Atlantic ports. In this connection, moreover, Mr. King explained that the air training plan, "the greatest individual effort the Dominion has ever made," was not worked out by Australia, New Zealand and Canada, but in the United Kingdom—and "it was geared basically to British aircraft production schedules."

While the British government preferred a training scheme which would produce a large number of trained men at a later date rather than a smaller number earlier, Mr. King assured the Commons that production must be accelerated to the limit, and training intensified—because the efficient, persistent and fitting defence and triumph of the Allied cause made this essential. With a new government in Britain, a new program of acceleration all round, therefore, we presume the Prime Minister intends to see that the tempo of Canada's effort is quickened and expanded accordingly. This is what our people want and what they demand.

'Peculiar Young Man'

COLONEL CHARLES A. LINDBERGH told the American people on Sunday they will not "get hurt" if they will "stop this silly chatter of calamity and invasion that has been running rife these last few days." But the New York Times, admitting that he still "remains a great flier," reminds him and the public of the United States that the "silly chatter" is "the talk that the democracies of France and Great Britain stand in danger of defeat by Germany"—reflecting the apprehension, in other words, as expressed by President Roosevelt in one of the most memorable addresses of his career. The great daily we have quoted, therefore, adds that "Colonel Lindbergh is a peculiar young man if he can contemplate this possibility in any other light than as a calamity for the American people."

What this "peculiar young man" says to his compatriots about their attitude toward European affairs, how he lectures them on what he evidently believes is the virtue of no foreign entanglements at any cost, is his own business. But a phrase used by the Ottawa Journal a few weeks ago would appear to be worth Lindbergh's notice: "History sits in terrible judgment upon the school of isolationists." This is well said, because less than a year ago, when the neighboring republic's neutrality law was under discussion in Congress, Senator Borah—who died last January—feeling that his country was too far removed to be worried about Europe's troubles, spoke as follows:

"When I read of the four nations—Norway, Denmark, Finland and Sweden—saying to Hitler, and in effect to the world, that 'we are going to be neutral and run our own business in our own way,' I can not but believe that it will afford some comfort, and possibly some courage, to people in this country who think we can not keep out of war, that we can not be neutral, and that we can not have our own national policy. When we think of these nations, situated as they are, revealing the foresight and courage which they have done heretofore and which they are doing again, it ought to be helpful to us who kowtow to the demands and policies of other nations."

Since the death of Senator Borah, less than a year after he gave utterance to the foregoing sentiments, three of the four countries mentioned by the veteran isolationist have felt the heel of the invader. Sweden for weeks has been prepared for a similar visitation. In the last 12 days three more states whose cardinal policy had been neutrality have been crushed and their cities and towns and countryside are drenched with blood. Both Britain and France are now fighting for their national life. Knowing all this, however, and familiar with every detail of Germany's air technique, Lindbergh, the "peculiar young man," speaks of "silly chatter" when the President of the United States voices misgivings patent to all.

One of the early tourists who have come to British Columbia in response to government advertising, claims to have seen a kangaroo. The Ottawa Citizen thinks it sounds like moonshine and suggests there may be stills operating in the mountains out here. A few stories like that and we won't be able to handle the crowds.

STRONGER THAN WE THOUGHT

From Toronto Star

The Allies suggest that the enemy has a 10 to 6 numerical superiority on the western front. This column months ago said that when the Germans attacked they probably would be found to have scores of divisions more than it was thought possible for them to have, just as in 1914 they used their reserves audaciously and appeared in the Ardennes and elsewhere with fully twice the number of divisions they were supposed to have. They nearly won the war that way 25 years ago.

In the old days, when armies moved ponderously, a 3 to 1 superiority of striking power was supposed to be needed by the attacking force and time nearly always was afforded for patching up a hole made by the enemy in the battlefront. Today things are different. Small mechanized forces, given great striking power, may defeat much larger armies not so scientifically equipped and not aided by equal air forces. Instead of a week or 10 days of opportunity for rectifying an impaired situation, all may be lost if heroic action is not taken within a few hours.

The Germans broke into the French defences south and east of Sedan and rapidly fanned out in either direction. They knew the whole system of defence and their methods of attack no doubt had been carefully rehearsed for months as were the methods used in Norway, Belgium and Holland. With score of thousands of men having to be trained, each man individually, to do specific jobs, it is a wonder so much secrecy was achieved. The utterances of British statesmen before the attacks on Holland and Belgium were launched, which were to the effect that Britain was in greater peril than at any time in the great war, proves that advance information about the inventions and amazing power and skill of the enemy had reached the highest circles.

Elmore Philpott

LINDBERGH AGAIN

ONCE AGAIN Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has spoken. Once again what he has said is exactly what Hitler would have wanted him to say had he known about it. Indeed, if Goebbels himself had written Lindbergh's radio speech of Sunday night it could not more precisely have expressed Nazi wishes for the United States. It is time that everybody everywhere began to remember just what this same Lindbergh has said and done in the past three or four years.

Lindbergh is now opposing President Roosevelt's plan to build 50,000 planes per year, and to step up all other national defences to meet the obvious Nazi bid for world domination. Lindbergh pooh-poohs the idea of the invasion of the North American continent. He himself flew the oceans both east and west when aviation was crude and primitive compared with its technical excellence today. Routine commercial flights both east and west to Europe and Asia are now available almost daily—war or no war. Nations have shown that they are willing to sacrifice millions of lives to conquer other nations—with planes as their chief means of transport. Yet this aviation expert is sure that America is absolutely safe, and believes that the President's policy is unwise in that it might even hurt the feelings of the Nazis.

LAST OCTOBER Colonel Lindbergh was gratuitously telling us Canadians that we had no business to send any troops or supplies to Europe to fight Hitler. Just a little more than a year before that time he was also doing some talking. It was before the Munich crises, and he was going from group to group in the British political circles giving them "inside information" about the Russian air force. It was so woefully inefficient, he argued, that it would be suicidal for France and Britain to stand behind Czechoslovakia, as, even if the Russians lived up to their treaty, their military help would not be of much help anyway. Lloyd George had described Lindbergh's lobby at that time as the most astounding he had observed in all his years of parliamentary experience.

The result of Munich, as everyone knows, was not only the disarming by Germany of the Czechoslovakian army, the bloodless conquest of what Napoleon called "the bastion of Europe," the putting out of action of a fully-equipped army 50 per cent stronger then than the whole British Empire frontline army is now—including that desperately fighting in Flanders, and that in the Near East. Moreover, a direct result was the Russo-German agreement of the following August. The deadly devastation wrought by the Red planes in Finland was quite as diabolical as that now being achieved by Hitler's airmen. If those Russians were fighting against Hitler, instead of dividing his spoils with him, who can doubt the tremendous advantage to our side? It is probably too late to do anything about that now. But it is not too late to realize that action on the advice of people like Lindbergh has been as deadly to the truly democratic world as all of Hitler's hellish machinery.

WHAT IS THE EXPLANATION? I think I know. I think things happened to Colonel Lindbergh when he was in Germany—that he was taken up on a very high mountain and told about his possible place in the new world. But if I wrote all of what I think the paper could not print it anyway.

But we do not need to guess about some things concerning Colonel Lindbergh. In the Readers Digest for November, 1939, for instance, we find him writing an article entitled "Aviation, Geography and Race." By a strange coincidence it embodies all the usual unscientific Nazi jargon about the supremacy of certain races over certain others, and by another strange coincidence it argues that there must therefore be special unspecified privileges for the superior peoples. And who are they? Col. Lindbergh leaves no doubt:

He writes: "It is time to turn from our quarrels and build our white ramparts again. . . . Our civilization depends on a united strength . . . on an English fleet, a German air force, a French army standing together as guardians of our common heritage, sharing strength, dividing influence."

Against whom? Whence came the great menace against which Lindbergh would have all the superior whites unite? He puts it very plainly:

"While we stand poised for battle, Oriental guns are turning westward, Asia presses towards us on the Russian border . . ."

By a coincidence, those were the days when Hitler was waging his peace offensive, trying to get the Allies to call off their war against him, and transform it into a war against his then ally, Russia. He was out to double-cross his then partner in double-crossing. Lindbergh, by another coincidence, then had no objection to the abandonment of isolation by the United States. Now, by still another coincidence, when Germany believes she has a stranglehold on the Soviet anyway, and is out to conquer the whole western world by force, Colonel Lindbergh has changed his mind. He does not think anybody should get excited about anything. Particularly, he does not think that the United States should build more planes than Hitler has.

'Total Effort' Demanded To Gain Air Supremacy

By
E. STUART JOHNSTONE, M.C.
(Royal Engineers, Retired)

TIME, LIKE Providence, helps those who help themselves. Time is not the unconditional friend of the Allies; it favors the more efficient, but may change sides.

When Britain's Prime Minister first tried to reason with Hitler at Munich the military power of the British Empire was symbolically no stronger than the frailness of Mr. Chamberlain's umbrella. The penalty of procrastination might then have resulted in the ignominious defeat of our comparatively unarmed Empire and the European continent might have become the slaughterhouse of brute Hun. The fact that Hitler stayed his hand which held the air-weapon of victory was sure proof of his belief that the Reich could spread its grasping tentacles to the far corners of Europe without major conflict with Great Britain, whose unpreparedness he well knew. As Mr. Chamberlain remarked, "Hitler has missed the bus." He may make sure of catching the next one.

Since Munich the cause of the Allies has been favored by Time, but the invaluable opportunities to repair our deficiencies have not been fully taken advantage of. In the intervening period progress has been made, but the British Government is only just rising to the conception of "total war." Canada has failed as yet to gain this appreciation.

The totalitarion organization of the man-power and industry of Germany, which has been productive of a war machine more powerful than ever dreamed of, can only be defeated by the greater collective total effort of all free Britishers.

THAT GREAT patriot and journalist, Mr. J. L. Garvin, of the Observer, of England, recently wrote: "The Allied armies cannot begin to pass from defence to ascendancy until Britain and France possess the full mastery of the air on the Western Front, as elsewhere." This responsibility largely rests with Canada as the foster mother of the Empire air scheme. Native Canadians are natural fliers and thousands of young men of our Dominion are begging a chance to follow the heroic example of Bishop and Barker and many others less well known who contributed so magnificently in aerial combat in the Great War and brought unequalled fame to Canada.

Some of us remember how in France, in 1914, messages were dropped to troop commanders from slow-flying, wobbly planes whose maximum speed was 60 miles an hour and how motorcycle despatch riders emulated thoroughbred hunters in their crosscountry collection of these treasured missles of information of the enemy's whereabouts and doings. Within four years of such an elementary method of communication between land and air the Royal Air Force had become the eyes of the Army-in-the-field and the unchallenged masters of the air. The struggle for air supremacy was then on an equal basis with the enemy, but today we have to start from far behind. "The way out is the way over," and nothing less than "total effort" to gain "air supremacy" can win this war for the Allies. We must remember that Poland was blotted out from the air in short time, and that control of the air has given Germany southern Norway.

THE ROYAL Canadian Navy is rendering traditional service with the limited equipment at its disposal, but more men must be trained and more ships must be built. The Empire's lifeline is the sea. The Atlantic crossing might feasibly become the sole responsibility of Canada's fighting ships. Naval training centres are working at high pressure, but numbers of embryo seadogs are clamoring to join the senior service only to be told that there is no room for them — as yet.

Thousands of Canadian volunteers await the Defence Minister's slightest beckoning. "Action" must become the password of the Department of National Defence; the deadwood must be cut out of the tree.

The conduct of modern warfare is no longer the exclusive responsibility of the professional soldier. Canada has reason to be proud of many of the personnel of its permanent militia, but any barriers which may obstruct the meritorious preferment of the civilian soldier should be ruthlessly removed by the Minister of Defence.

TARDINESS in setting up a Department of Munitions and Supply under a minister finds us, at the end of eight months, with a department under splendid leadership, but imperfectly organized and not wholly possessed of public confidence. A few of Canada's proved executives have been hewing a pathway to accomplishment through a jungle of departmental incompetency. No ground has been shown for believing that contracts can be obtained from the department by favor. Any person claiming to have profitable "influence" with any government department should be jailed. Supply Minister Howe is the right man in the right place; he has efficient aides; but no subordinate who inspires doubts should be retained. Industrial Canada is wholly behind Minister Howe, but demands his assurance of an aggressive program. The practical value of potential and industrial resources, however great, depends on the vigor and grip with which they are developed and applied. The wheels of industry must be turned faster. Personal and corporate profit must be sacrificed for the good of the State.

AND HOW, we may well ask ourselves, are we to pay for this "total effort"? The answer is bewildering in its clarity. It must be either paid for with our wordly goods or with our lives and our liberty. Taxes and more taxes; sacrifice of luxuries; limitation of enjoyments; these are the burdens that must be borne by all Canadians. Finance Minister Ralston will doubtless lead the way; we must follow willingly. If the people of Great Britain can take it, surely we can!

CANADA'S RECENT general election has given Mr. Mackenzie King a staggering majority, with a power to lead and govern which few democratic statesmen have enjoyed. What weighed down the scale so heavily was a national determination not only to refrain from changing horses while crossing the stream, but to make sure the stream was crossed, and with this purpose in mind, to accentuate and accelerate war preparations to the very utmost. The election evidenced that Canada believes in Mr. King and through him, as Premier, reaffirms the rightfulness of this conflict for the freedom of nations and for a moral mind in the world. The resolve declared the steadfast and unalterable will of Canada—a Sovereign State within a democratic Empire—to wage the fight for right, shoulder to shoulder with Britain—to the end.

This is not the time for fireside chats, nor half measures. Plain speaking by the Premier of Canada is required to rally this Dominion to the full sense of its responsibilities and a comprehensive understanding of the stupendous nature of the conflict in which we are engaged. The government must lead the way. Business suspicions and rumors were born of lack of information.

ENRICHING CHILD'S PERSONALITY

From Toronto Star

After-school employment may benefit the character of the child. There is no doubt that when a child undertakes, voluntarily, spurred by a sense of affectionate loyalty, to help others, he is himself a beneficiary in a deep spiritual sense. The boy or girl who practices unselfishness, who voluntarily gives up leisure time and sacrifices personal pleasures in order to help out in the home, is receiving a benefit not obtainable from textbooks. Such unselfish acts are powerful in their character training effects; they add something to the child which no amount of formal education could do. It is one of the purposes of education to build character and one of the ways of doing this is to assume responsibilities, think of others and to perform deeds for their sake, even though it may entail discomfort to oneself.

In seasons of tumult and discord bad men have most power; mental and moral excellence require peace and quietness.—Tacitus.

ATTACKS OF RHEUMATIC PAIN 5 YEARS BEFORE HE GOT MOSBY'S TONIC

"I Was in Distress With Almost Continual Suffering," States Mr. Ford, 80-year-old Vancouver Citizen. "And My Stomach Was Gassy and Bloated. But Now Mosby's Tonic Has Relieved Me. I Gladly Endorse Such a Splendid Medicine"

"Two Bottles of MOSBY'S TONIC Relieved the Suffering I Had Been Enduring for Years. It Turned Out to Be What I Had Needed for a Long Time," Says MR. SAMUEL FORD of 926 Cotton Drive, Vancouver. Read His Sincere Statement.

Mr. Samuel Ford of 926 Cotton Drive, Vancouver, is the latest widely-known resident of this vicinity to come forward with his Public Endorsement of this "New, Scientific Medicine," known as MOSBY'S TONIC, which is now being introduced to crowds daily here in Victoria at The Cunningham Drug Store, Fort and Douglas Streets. Mr. Ford's statement about Mosby's Tonic is Truly Worth Reading. This man is 80 years of age and is a member of Sussex Fellowship and is widely-acquainted here. His Sincere Testimonial follows:

Tells of Five Years of Painful Suffering

"About five years ago I injured myself and since that time I have had almost continual rheumatic pains," said Mr. Ford. "These rheumatic pains were worst in my hands. The joints of my fingers had gotten to be almost rigid, in fact, I could hardly move them. Aside from this rheumatic affliction, I had a very bad case of stomach indigestion and gas bloating. My stomach would be so bloated with gas after meals that I could hardly stand it. The gas pains seemed to extend from the pit of my stomach way up to my chest and throat. This made my breathing difficult, and my suffering would extend way into the night so that I couldn't get my proper sleep. I tell you, I certainly had my share of distress, and finally I was almost worn out completely:

Two Bottles of Mosby's Tonic Brought Relief

"Recently I read in the paper about Mosby's Tonic and how it had already helped thousands of people, so I got this medicine and started taking it, and I want to say that two bottles of Mosby's Tonic have given me the first real relief I ever had from my suffering during the last five years. This medicine turned out to be just what I had always been needing. It relieved my sour, gassy, bloated stomach and now I can eat my meals and enjoy them and not suffer afterward with gas pains and gassy swelling like I did before. But the best thing of all is the way this medicine drove the poisons from my system and relieved that rheumatic suffering I had been enduring so long. I can move my fingers now and use my hands for the first time in YEARS. I eat and sleep better now and feel stronger, and I can truthfully say that this is the finest medicine of the kind I EVER FOUND. I gladly endorse Mosby's Tonic and hope what I have to say will help many others."

Over 100,000 Bottles Sold in One Year

SUFFERERS! All you people who are in distress, as described above. Bear this in mind, that is, Over 100,000 bottles of Mosby's Tonic have been sold in the short period of one year. So don't hesitate. Get this Splendid Medicine — TODAY — and start taking it!

A Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as the MOSBY TONIC Man, is now at the CUNNINGHAM DRUG STORE, Fort and Douglas Sts., Victoria, daily meeting crowds of people and introducing and explaining this New Compound.

Expert Explains Air Raid Work

Co-ordination in air raid precautions work was explained in detail by Petty Officer Edward MacFayden, R.C.N., to a large audience of the various departments of the Civilian Protection Committee of Greater Victoria in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium last night.

Mr. MacFayden, gunnery and anti-gas instructor for the R.C.N., spoke on gases and their effects and air raid precautions.

"A sense of humour, co-operation and co-ordination is necessary in air raid work. The public must be informed of what to expect and mass hysteria must be prevented at all costs," said the speaker.

"Among the gases which you may come up against are chlorine, phosgene and chloro-picrin, the choking or lung gases, and K.C.K., C.A.P. and B.B.C., the tear gases."

The speaker outlined the properties of these gases and told of the methods used in air raid precautions work to deal with persons who had come under their effects during a raid.

"If you should ever be in an air raid you must know how to handle the situation. The enemy starts by dropping incendiary bombs in order to get the fire departments and A.R.P. workers in the open, then they drop gas bombs on these workers with disastrous results unless proper equipment is on hand."

During a question period Mr. MacFayden told of what to do if an air raid occurred in an unprotected area. Anti-gas equipment and respirators were also described.

"In order to obtain an efficient and well-equipped air raid district you will first obtain the interest of the general public and then the interest of the government heads. You must get volunteers, government co-operation and schools in which to train the men who will carry on the A.R.P. work," said Mr. MacFayden.

"Those assisting in air raid work, the police, the St. John Ambulance Brigade and air wardens, must all have a good knowledge of gases and the treatment of their effects, and must be efficient to ensure success of the work.

"An air raid school should be equipped with a lecture room and a decontamination room. Civilians must work and schoolchildren can be taught at their own public schools. The staff of an air raid centre must be composed of half men and half women, who will act as air raid wardens, recorders, dressers, undressers, and who are properly trained in A.R.P. work at these schools."

Mr. MacFayden explained how various large stores in Victoria could be transformed into air raid protections, and advised the air raid workers to build up their equipment and personnel gradually, in order to ensure maximum efficiency in case of emergency.

"You will have to evacuate older people, invalids and children first, and leave the able-bodied in the city to carry on A.R.P. work. You must remember that the enemy will bomb only those places which are unprepared for any such emergency."

The speaker was thanked by Captain W. Ellis, Civilian Protection Officer for Greater Victoria, who acted as chairman of the meeting.

RECOVERS LETTER FROM SUNK BOAT

J. T. Baker, former provincial government employee, now retired, tells an interesting story of a letter he has in his possession which was on board Ss. Empress of Ireland when she sank in collision in the mouth of the St. Lawrence River in 1914.

Mr. Baker wrote the letter to his sister, Mrs. H. Forrest, who lived at Bloxwich, Walsall, England. It was recovered by divers after at least four months at the bottom of the river, and was forwarded to its destination. While the letter rested at the bottom of the sea, Mrs. Forrest died, and when the letter arrived at her home it was left unopened.

The letter was returned to Mr. Baker by a nephew in England, when Mr. Baker was on a trip to his sister's home two days before the outbreak of the present war.

The letter is in perfect condition. Every word is readable.

Mr. Baker was unable to make reservations for his return trip to Victoria until March 9. He sailed on the Lancastria, arriving in New York March 21. He was detained in New York six weeks waiting for his baggage to arrive.

"Seventy-five per cent of the people who are traveling these days are refugees," Mr. Baker said. "That is why I had so much difficulty getting away."

In New York he realized a lifelong ambition by attending a prize fight. It was the Joe Louis-Johnny Paychek scrap he saw, but was not euthused over the outcome. Louis hit Paychek three times and the fight was over.

An ardent follower of all sports, Mr. Baker attended four of the National Hockey League play-off games, and enjoyed seeing the Patrick brothers in action.

States to Give Allies More Aid

With American public sentiment definitely on the side of the Allies the coming months will see the United States giving greater support in a practical way toward the Allied cause, in the opinion of Arthur B. Wood, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, who reached the city yesterday afternoon after inspecting the company's branches in the United States.

Mr. Wood said he learned from his talks with American business men, not only in the east and on the Pacific coast, but also in the traditionally isolationist Middle West, that the United States is deeply concerned over the outcome of this war.

He expressed the belief that the Neutrality Act would be revised, and credit restrictions relaxed to ease the flow of money and munitions to the Allies before the United States participated actively in the war.

Business men of the United States, he said, now realized that the Allies are fighting the world's battle against tyranny and ruthlessness.

Public sentiment had been definitely turned against the Germans by the series of invasions during the past few weeks of small neutral countries.

Mr. Wood said he found Americans eager to learn what Canadians thought to the attitude of the United States on the war.

He told them, he said, that Canadians recognized it was a problem for the American themselves to decide; that Canada was in the war to the hilt, and that the people of Canada were convinced it was a struggle to maintain the principles which Americans, as well as Canadians, have cherished through the ages.

Mr. Wood said he was impressed with the fair treatment of war news in the United States press, adding that the most substantial American newspapers were definitely pro-Ally in their editorial policy.

Mrs. Wood is accompanying her husband, and others in the party were, W. S. Penny, director of world-wide services for the Sun Life; A. L. Wright, British Columbia manager at Vancouver and his wife, and J. E. Chandler, assistant to the president.

Henry B. Howard, Victoria manager for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, greeted his chief on arrival.

At the Empress Hotel last night, Mr. Wood was guest of honor at a staff dinner.

Esquimalt Council

Disappointed On Bus Stand

On receiving a letter from the city stating tenders would be called for a transportation system excluding outside municipalities, the Esquimalt Council last evening went on record as opposing the move and made plans to meet with Oak Bay Council to discuss the question further.

Esquimalt notified the city a few weeks ago that they were of the opinion that this was not the right time to go ahead with the calling of tenders for a transportation system.

They were still of that opinion last evening, but felt that if tenders were to be called they should be for a unified system covering Oak Bay and Esquimalt as well as Victoria.

The letter read to the council from the city stated that bidders would submit tenders for the city alone, and could, if they so desired, submit tenders covering the outside municipalities.

"It is disappointing that the city is so determined to call for tenders excluding us," Reeve Alex Lockley said. "If the city accepts a cheap tender under this arrangement we will be forced to work with the successful company."

"The city is taking a very one-sided stand," Councillor J. A. Christensen remarked.

Councillor Frederick Eaton said that the sooner buses took over the present system, the better it would be for the people of Esquimalt.

"I don't think any transportation company would want to operate in Victoria alone," Councillor Albert Heald said.

"We don't want to annoy the city and we don't want to dictate, but I am positive that this is not the right time to do away with our present transportation system," the reeve said, suggesting that the council meet with Oak Bay to discuss the matter further.

Councillor Thomas Hadfield moved that a letter be sent to the city disapproving the calling of tenders for the city alone, and Councillor Eaton seconded.

The reeve was instructed to contact Oak Bay to get the feeling of the council in regards to the city's move.

ARMY HELPS WORK ON PETERS STREET

An offer from the Department of National Defence to pay a sum not to exceed $750 to recondition Peters Street was accepted by the Esquimalt Council last evening. The municipality will do the work.

The chairman of works, Councillor Albert Heald, was authorized to call for tenders for the rough grading of Dunsmuir Road from Lampson Street to Macaulay Avenue and, alternatively, from Lampson Street to Head Street. Cost of installing water and other facilities will be included.

The B.C. Electric Railway Company's offer to move a pole at 908 Colville Avenue at a cost to the municipality of $10.42 was accepted.

There were no funds available to donate to the Civic Celebrations Committee for the staging of May 24 sports and programs. It was pointed out in a letter signed by Alderman W. H. Davies, chairman of the celebration committee, asking for a donation, that the committee had been given $350 to stage the holiday features, which was half the money needed.

A motor vehicle route bylaw amendment by-law was given final reading and passed.

Government Creates Two New B.C. Parks

Creation of two new provincial parks was announced today at the Legislative Buildings.

One is at The Chasm, the strange geological phenomenon along the Cariboo Highway north of Clinton. Approximately 315 acres have been set aside there, taking in the accessible land adjacent to the great gash in the earth which is sometimes described as a miniature grand canyon of the Colorado.

East of Vernon 22,080 acres have been set aside as the Silver Star Park. Residents of Vernon and nearby towns are interested in having it developed as a ski resort in the winter and a summer playground.

CITY WORKOUT

Victoria City soccer club will work out tomorrow evening at 6.15 at Heywood Avenue Park. All signed players are asked to be on hand.

Bullock Urges Loyalty Pledge

"We Canadians should try to develop a more nationalistic and loyal spirit, and in all fairness to the boys fighting in France, should pledge ourselves and our loyalty to our country," said George Bullock to members of the Victoria Gyro Club at a luncheon meeting held in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Bullock, speaking on "The Fifth Column," said the caution should be shown in discussions, so that stray pieces of information might not get into the hands of the enemy.

"The words "fifth column" were first originated during the Spanish Civil War. When Gen. Franco marched on Madrid with four columns of troops and demanded its surrender, the defenders replied that they could and would hold out indefinitely. It was the "fifth column," or internal troublemakers who eventually caused the city's downfall," said the speaker.

"Goering was once asked how long it would take to conquer Poland, France and America, and he replied: "We shall take Poland in 15 to 18 days, France in 60 days, but America, it will be an inside job. Such activities, so detrimental to our country's welfare, have been tolereated in a spirit of democracy, but we must take care that this spirit is not carried too far."

"Recent reports in the press about the riots in Regina were not fully reported," said the speaker, "and to many, the real reasons for the riots are not known. They were started because soldiers had seen people of German origin openly gleeful at German success in the present war."

Mr. Bullock urged Canadians to show their loyalty by reporting any show of German sympathy to the proper authorities immediately.

"These activities can occur here, and there is every possibility that they will do so if conditions prove favorable. I know of a case which happened not 32 miles from Victoria," he said "Four young boys, two Canadian and two refugee boys from the Sudetanland area, were playing together. The boys of German origin said that "after Mr. Hitler is through my daddy will own all this land." This remark might have been quite natural, but considering the age of the boys who uttered it, there is a great possibility that someone older had first suggested the remark."

The speaker was thanked on behalf of the Gyros by R. R. Minnis, president.

Woman M.P. Makes Maiden Speech

OTTAWA (CP)—An attentive House of Commons last night heard Mrs. D. W. Nielsen (Unity North Battleford), only woman member of the chamber, make her first speech in Parliament and applauded her roundly.

In a clear, distinct voice, with an English accent, she pleaded the cause of the prairie farmer and the frontier folk of the west, during the address debate.

Mrs. Nielsen prepared her speech well and was given a fine hearing, most of the members leaning forward and listening intently to her clean-cut sentences and well-chosen phrases.

Mrs. Nielsen wore a black, tailored dress during her appearance in the House.

Financial Rights Lost in Marriage

MONTREAL—A woman who loaned $500 in 1921, when she was single, has no right to recover the sum amounting now, with interest to $1,448, since she is now a married woman, Justice Boyer decided in Superior Court.

His Lordship ruled that the debt owed to the woman became the property of the community existing between her and her husband when they were married and her husband only had the right to sue for the debt.

The action was taken by Mrs. Hector Henault against Esdras Contant for $1,448. From the evidence it appeared that Contant had signed a note in August, 1936, for the amount of the debt and interest, but he claimed the note was only an accommodation and that he received no consideration for it.

As regards the original debt he said that according to law it became outlawed in 1931 and that he was completely free from payment.

As the present debt was created before the marriage it must fall into the community over which the husband had control, His Lordship said. The action was accordingly dismissed.

Weddings

GLASSFORD—SWEETING

A military wedding of wide interest drew a large congregation to St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, last night for the 8.30 nuptials of Barbara Dickens, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sweeting, Cook Street, to Captain Lloyd James Glassford, 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, C.A.S.F., son of Mrs. E. J. Glassford, Mount Edwards Apartments, and the late Mr. J. J. Glassford.

Early summer flowers in pink and white were arranged in the chancel, and the guest pews were marked by posies of pink dianthus, tied with white bows. Capt. the Rev. Alan Gardiner performed the ceremony.

BRIDE IN WHITE SATIN

The pretty bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely wedding gown of white satin, an imported model, made on princess lines, with square neckline and tucked front, long sleeves buttoned to the elbow, with shirrings at either side of the waist, the graceful skirt flaring into a long train. Her long tulle veil fell from a halo of pearls and orange blossom into a filmy second train, and her only ornament was a diamond-centred gold cross, the gift of the groom. She carried a white prayer book showered with long streamers studded with tiny sweetheart roses.

Miss June Sweeting, the bride's sister, was her maid of honor, gowned in a French blue chiffon, wasp-waisted gown of period inspiration, with long full skirt, the fitted jacket being shirred with an interesting shoulder line, and fastened from the V-neckline to the waist with matching buttons. Her hat was a miniature sailor of gold tuscan straw trimmed at the back with a pert bow over the hair and streamers of velvet ribbon to match the gown. Miss Dorothy Campbell, cousin of the bride, and Miss Muriel Craig were bridesmaids in matching gowns of persimmon red chiffon, of similar style to that worn by the maid of honor, their hats being trimmed with velvet ribbons to match their gowns. All three wore gold lace mitts and carried Colonial bouquets of sweet peas edged with stiffened gold lace and wore tiny gold crosses, the groom's gift.

Capt. R. Lendrum was best man, and the ushers were Lieut. Peter Ramsay and Lieut. Jack Bryden, all members of the Canadian Scottish Regiment.

MANY AT RECEPTION

A reception, attended by many guests, was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Sweeting was handsomely gowned in orchid chiffon, with a model hat to tone, and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses, and was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Glassford Sr., in a smart violet ensemble, with a corsage of Talisman roses.

Masses of red peonies, blue and yellow iris were used in the reception rooms, and tall white tapers in silver candelabra lighted the supper table, on which stood the three-tiered wedding cake.

After a honeymoon to an unnounced destination, for which the bride donned an Air Force blue fitted coat with stand-up collar outlined with white, a navy hat and other accessories, Capt. and Mrs. Glassford will make their home in Victoria.

LLOYD—HENN

A marriage of interest to many Victorians took place on May 14 at St. Mark's Church, Vancouver, when Rev. G. Biddle joined in marriage, Edith Henn, second daughter of the late Mrs. L. Weber, Vancouver, and William Henry Lloyd, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lloyd, Gordon Head, Victoria.

After a honeymoon in Seattle and Victoria Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd will make their home at 1395 W. 11th Avenue, Vancouver.

Gough, Nanaimo, and Mr. Worsley Francis Ebbs Canavan, Victoria, and the late Mr. Harold Worsley Ebbs Canavan. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of Monterey rose silk crepe with a corsage bouquet of Sweetheart roses, carnations and lily of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mabel-Rose Gough, whose dress was of heaven-blue sheer with a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Peter Ebbs Canavan, Vancover.

After the ceremony, the bridal party with immediate relatives and close friends were guests at a supper party at the Plaza Hotel. The private dining-room was attractively decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. The tables were arranged with tall pink snapdragons and white tapers, and a three-tier wedding cake surmounted by a model destroyer flying the white ensign, held the place of honor.

The bride and groom left by motor for a short honeymoon on the island before taking up residence in Victoria. For traveling the bride donned a dark blue coat with white accessories. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. H. W. Ebbs Canavan, Mrs. J. Grant and Mr. Harold Ebbs Canavan and Mr. Jack Grant, all of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ebbs Canavan, Vancouver.

CLARK—WILLIAMS

The marriage of Thelma Pearl, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Williams, 847 Victoria Avenue, and Mr. Robert L. Clark, son of the late Mr. Robert Clark and Mrs. Clark, 121 South Turner Street, was solemnized by Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns at St. Mary's Church last evening. Early summer flowers banked the chancel rails, and the guest pews were marked by pale pink roses and dianthus.

As the bride entered the church with her father, she was met by the choir, singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." Mr. F. T. C. Wickett was at the organ, and as the register was being signed the hymn "O Perfect Love" was sung.

The bride's gown of palest pink chiffon had a short train, and was fashioned with a lace yoke and long pointed sleeves. A hip-length pink veil covered the small floral hat, which was trimmed with touches of blue, and fell over her face, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink Ophelia rosebuds.

Her sister, Mrs. T. Hurly, was matron of honor, in a frock of orchid marquisette with a matching turban and veil, carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations, sweet peas and roses. The bridesmaids were her cousin, Miss Mildred Edmonds, in Nile green net over taffeta, and Miss Helen Baxter, in buttercup yellow net over taffeta. Their hats of net matched their frocks, and they carried bouquets of mauve and yellow rosebuds and pale pink carnations. Mr. Herbert Clague was best man and Mr. Robert Williams, brother of the bride, and Mr. Leonard Dixon were ushers.

The reception was held in the flower-decorated church hall, where the many guests were welcomed by Mrs. Williams in a jacket frock of rosewood silk crepe, with black accessories, assisted by Mrs. Clark Sr., in a printed chiffon gown. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses and carnations. The supper table was lighted by tall pink tapers and centred with the bride's cake, and at each corner stood vases of rosebuds.

After a honeymoon on the United States mainland, for which the bride left in a light grey tailored suit, with a turquoise blue blouse, navy blue accessories and a corsage spray of pale pink rosebuds, Mr. and Mrs. Clark will make their home on South Turner Street

American Women Want to Help

NEW YORK (CP)—American women by the hundreds are begging for a chance to take a hand in Europe's war.

Already more than 50 young women are engaged in war relief work abroad. Many times that number have filed applications for overseas duty. A few are preparing to sail within a month.

The State Department is not anxious to let American girls go to belligerent countries, but it does grant passports to bone-fide relief workers if they release the United States from any obligation to protect them.

Why do American girls want to take part in somebody else's war? Should they be allowed to do so? World Peaceways, pacifist organization, argues that these girls don't realize the seriousness of what they are doing.

Miss Dorothy Russell, of the American Friends of France, has returned from Paris, full of praise for the work being done by American women.

NO ROMANCE

"It's unfair to accuse our relief workers of a frivolous attitude," Miss Russell says. "There's no romance about our activities, unless you can call hard work romantic. The young men are all at the front. Our women work with civilian victims of war. They drive ambulances and trucks, bringing food and medical aid to the sick and the needy. They care for children. They help to evacuate villages."

The American Friends of France—in which Miss Ann Morgan is interested—has some 25 women in France, many of them in the dangerous "red zones" where fighting is likely to occur. They must be expert automobile drivers and mechanics. They organize the work of paid French nurses, and they direct projects such as sewing rooms and gardening clubs, to give occupation to uprooted civilians.

The American Friends Service Committee, the Quaker organization to which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt gives support, maintains women workers in Berlin, Rome, Copenhagen, Vienna, Amsterdam and Paris.

Even closer to danger are the American nurses serving with ambulance units maintained by the American Legion, the American Field Service and the American Scandinavian Field Hospital (now in Norway).

Cranbrook Gyros Start Well-baby Clinic

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—A "well-baby clinic," where mothers can bring their children for a weekly check-up and seek advice on correct feeding, is in operation here.

Sponsored by the Gyro Club, the clinic is in charge of Miss Bertha Jenkins, who has volunteer assistants to help her with the weighing of the children.

Miss Jenkins was formerly a member of the Saanich municipal nursing staff for some years before leaving for Cranbrook.

St. Joseph's Hospital Alumnae will meet this evening at 8. Members are reminded to take their dime calendars to the meeting.

Recently reunited through a court order, Marion Talley, noted opera singer and her five-year-old daughter, Susan, arrive at Los Angeles where they'll make their home. Miss Talley won the custody of her daughter after a long court fight with her husband.

With the Forces

Hamper Service Proves Popular

The service organized by the Agent General's office in London for the purchase of parcels as personal gifts to British Columbia's soldiers serving overseas has met with a gratfying and immediate response, W. A. McAdam reports.

Although the scheme was only launched late in December the first order was received in London on January 10, and since then orders have come in a steady stream not only from every part of the province, but also from points in the Dominion as far apart as Ottawa and Edmonton.

That these little luxuries supplementing the ordinary service fare have been much appreciated is borne out by the fact that many off the original orders have been and are being repeated.

This troop comforts service, designed to save individual senders the delay, trouble and expense involved in despatching from home gifts overseas to relatives and friends serving in the Canadian Active Service Force, should now more than ever prove its usefulness. When the troops are on the move, additions to their rations are doubly welcome, and only through an organization such as has been set up at British Columbia House can these "extras" reach their receipients with regularity and despatch.

There are 16 parcels to choose from, and they range in price from $1 to $5.

Full particulars together with order form may be obtained either through newspaper offices, the government agents or any local bank.

MAKE PRINTERS BUSY

Seven months of war have made the government printing bureau one of the busiest places in Ottawa. Production has increased 50 per cent and the bureau has handled 3,000 more jobs than in any previous corresponding period. The new department of munitions and supply requires a great deal of printed matter, as does the R.C.A.F. because of the air training plan. The press room is running in three shifts and much old equipment has been pressed into service.

FOR AIR FORCE

Police Chief Laurie of Trail, B.C., has been given an indefinite leave of absence by the police commission, begininng May 1, to enable him to take a commission in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Chief Laurie will be a flying officer in charge of provost marshal service.

Appointment of Lieut.-Col. F. B. Lloyd, V.D., of Cobourg, Ont., son of Bishop G. E. Lloyd, Esquimalt, as officer commanding the 4th Field Regiment, R.C.A. C.A.S.F., Second Division, has been announced at Ottawa. Lieut.-Col. Lloyd is a doctor by profession and is known in the Northwest where he spent his early life. He served in the last war and has been officer commanding the 4th Brigade militia.

A WOMAN never forgets THE MAN WHO REMEMBERS

▶ Nearly eighty per cent of all life insurance owned by men is payable to women. Every man realizes that his wife (and children) usually depend upon his earning power; and that in the event of his death, Life Insurance may be the only substantial amount of ready money available for his dependents.

You can set up a surprisingly large insurance estate by the annual saving of a comparatively modest sum.

Mr. Fisher is vice-president and managing director of the Southam Company Limited, and a director in the companies associated with that firm.

PHILIP S. FISHER

A McGill University graduate in Arts, Mr. Fisher served overseas with the Royal Naval Air Service, which later was merged into the Royal Air Force, from 1915 to 1919, winning the D.S.C. and D.S.O., and quitted the service with the rank of captain in the R.A.F. He joined the Southam printing and publishing interests in 1924.

National Protest Day Is Sought

An effort to make next Sunday a national "get-into-the-war-properly" day was launched at a meeting of ex-servicemen's organizations and other bodies last night.

A mass parade and demonstration in Beacon Hill Park at 3 Sunday afternoon was decided upon unanimously.

In addition it was decided to send a wire to Ottawa urging a greater war effort and a national policy to curb possible fifth column activities.

Finally all ex-service groups were asked to act through their national organizations in getting similar demonstrations in other parts of Canada.

The demonstration here will take the form of a parade to the park with speeches on the war effort. A committee representing all groups was formed to draw up the program.

It took the meeting only a short time to decide on the demonstration.

The government's latest war plans, as outlined to the House yesterday by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, were explained, and some delegates suggested that in addition to showing the feeling in Victoria, the action would strengthen the government's hands in going the full limit in its war effort.

The organizations represented at the meeting were as follows: Pro Patria Branch, Britannia Branch, North Saanich Branch, Naval Veterans' Branch, Prince Edward Branch, Ottawa Branch and Public Services Branch of the Canadian Legion, Veterans of France, Spencer's Remnants, Army and Navy Veterans, Officers' Voluntary Training Corps, Red Chevron Association, Defence League of Canada, Amputations Association, Legion of Frontiersmen, British Imperial Comrades' Association, Fourandex, No. 6 Company Fragments of France, Overseas Nursing Sisters League, Tuberculous Veterans' Section, United Services League of Vancouver Island, Canadian Pensioners' Association and the senior and junior Chambers of Commerce.

Col. W. N. Winsby, chairman of the Legion's district council, explained at the start that the meeting was called as the result of a suggestion advanced by the Pro Patria Branch for a demonstration and he then suggested that in view of the importance of the matter the chair be turned over to someone else. R. H. B. Ker was selected to preside.

Major part of the discussion centred around the procedure for organizing the protest, all delegates being in agreement that an expression of public feeling should be made.

This resulted in the move to make the thing national. Several of the ex-service groups have organizations throughout the Dominion and it was agreed they should communicate with their different branches with a view to holding similar demonstrations in other centres, if possible on the same day.

NO RIFLE MEET

OTTAWA (CP)—Lieut.-Col. R. J. Birtwhistle, secretary of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, said today the annual meet at Connaught Rifle Ranges near here had been called off this year because of war conditions.

Baseball Upset

Navy Turns On Eagles

Staging a powerful fifth-inning push, in which they blasted out five base knocks for as many runs, the cellar-berth Navy squad pulled the first upset in early season play in senior baseball last night defeating the pace-setting Eagles, 9 to 6, at Athletic Park.

The defeat slackened the championship stride of the Eagles and offered the Tillicum Athletics a better chance of climbing up on even terms.

Things were going pretty smoothly up to the end of the first half of the fifth when the count stood 3 to 3. When the sailor boys came up for their batting session in that inning, they blasted the apple heartily and did not ease up on the pressure until five runners had circled the bags. That put them in front 8 to 3, which proved to be sufficient to carry them through for their first victory. Of the five Navy hits three were for extra bases.

DUNC GETS HOMER

Sailors got to a trio of Eagle twirlers for a dozen base knocks, while the birdmen only succeeded in bagging five from a pair of Navy moundsmen, including a home run by big Steve Dunc.

Richards started for the Navy. A newcomer, he was quite wild, but in two innings did not allow a hit. He gave three walks, struck out three and had two tallies marked against him. Southan replaced him and only allowed five scattered bingles for the remainder of the game. Although his clubmates booted quite badly, Eagles were only able to add four more runs to their total. Southan breezed six batters and in the first of the eighth struck out Stan Davies with the cushions loaded to pull himself out of a dangerous hole.

Bob Landsell, a young heaver from the second division, started for Eagles. He did a good job until the end of the fifth, when the sailors really got to him, finally costing him a trip to the showers. Eight base blows were yielded by Landsell, which were made good for six runs. Les Stobo was next on the slab. Two runs from three knocks were secured from Stobo. Stan Davies pitched the last inning.

Score by innings:

Eagles	11010012—6
Navy	0102501x—9

Batteries — Landsell, Stobo, Davies and Bridgewood; Richards, Southan and Grover.

Second division games carded for tonight follow:

Navy vs. Brown Bombers, Admiral's Road.

Cedar Hill Athletics vs. Cubs, Beacon Hill.

Games start at 6.

By PETE SALLAWAY

LOYALTY AND HARMONY. "He's the finest player we have on our club." Those were the words of Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, world's professional hockey champions, as we chatted to the silver-thatched vice-president of Madison Square Garden in the quiet of his home office yesterday afternoon, following his arrival in the city from the big town.

Although he has just completed one of the most strenuous campaigns of his career Lester looks the picture of health. "You know, Pete, I have been working at high pressure since the close of the playoffs, cleaning up for last season and now I am at it again preparing for 1940. Look at the mail that was waiting for me when I got home." Glancing over at his desk we noted a pile of correspondence that would do credit to a department store president. "Those people in New York sure know airmail beats an automobile.

We were interested in the success, from a financial standpoint, of the season just completed. Patrick informed us that Chicago had an outstanding year with New York and Chicago attendances running into high figures. Boston showed a slight dropping off as did Detroit. Montreal crowds were poor, but that was not surprising in view of the manner in which the Canadian club was handled, Patrick said.

Patrick was quite enthusiastic over the new set-up of the Canadiens, which finds his brother Frank in the position of business manager and Dick Irvin, formerly of Toronto Maple Leafs, as coach. Lester pointed out that recent trades and player purchases put over by the Canadiens, showed the directors had decided to keep the club operating 12 months of the year. "They are not putting the club away in moth balls at the end of the season, but are going to operate along the same lines as Toronto and ourselves," Lester remarked.

Although he was naturally reticent about being quoted on the development of his younger son, Murray, as a major league player, we are able to glean from his remarks that "Muzz," as he is better known to Victorians, is proving some punkins as a defenceman with the Rangers. Lester compared Murray as a hockey player to players of the type of George Sisler and Charley Gehringer in baseball. "They are players whose great value is not always visible to the eye of the fan. But, believe me, Murray now makes mighty few mistakes out there on the ice."

Lester was one of those in attendance at the recent lightweight title fight between Lou Ambers and Lew Jenkins, which resulted in the latter scoring a surprising technical knockout in the third round to lift the title from the Herkimer veteran. Jenkins has terrific power in his right hand, Lester informed us. "I think Ambers weakened himself making the weight, but am of the opinion Jenkins could have taken him regardless of condition."

With those remarks Lester hurried into the kitchen for a bite of lunch before going out to Colwood with his son Lynn for a few holes of golf. "The office may be able to keep in touch with me, but this is one time I'm going to forget business and get the benefit of some of this real fresh air."

C.P.R. Wins Tennis

Members of the C.P.R. and Hillcrest Tennis Clubs got together in competition play over the week-end with the Canadian Pacific players scoring decisive wins.

On their home courts, C.P.R. beat Hillcrest 10 to 2 and on the Hillcrest courts C.P.R. won 9 to 3

Grads Score Easy Victory

EDMONTON (CP)—After trailing Wichita (Kans.) Thurstons through the first quarter here last night, Edmonton Grads came back strong to smother the Americans 50 to 33, and increase their lead to 35 points in a three-game total-point exhibition women's basketball series. Grads won the first game Saturday 52 to 34, and the third will be played tomorrow.

Thurstons were leading 11 to 8 at the end of the first quarter, but Grads tied it up in the second and then, led by Helen Northup, ran the score up to 23 to 14 at half time. In the third Grads continued the assault, leaving the count at 40 to 25 at three-quarters time. A valiant attempt by Thurstons in the fourth failed to cut down the lead.

Helen Northup, speedy Grad forward, displayed 50 per cent accuracy in shooting to mark up 20 points, while Dolores Mohr led the Wichita team with 12 marks. Grads' shooting accuracy was just under 40 per cent, compared with 24.1 for the visitors.

Close checking and a tricky passing attack in the last 30 minutes bewildered the Wichita quintette.

Teams and scores follow:

Edmonton — Northup 20, Munton-McCloy, Bawden 2, Dawn 5, Macritchie, Brown 14, Gallen, Williamson 9.

Wichita — Woodman, Smith 5, Graham, Friesen 8, McConnaughy 7, Ott 1, Mohr 12.

Referees—Bill Douglas and Ed Tomick, both of Edmonton.

Jokers Seek Bays' Scalps

Box lacrosse fans are eagerly awaiting tonight's senior struggle in the Willows Sports Centre between James Bay and Jokers.

Last Friday the Jokers pulled the biggest surpise of the season when they turned back the Alert Service aggregation. Now the fans are wondering whether the Jokers can halt the powerful Bays, city champions last year, via the same close-checking strategy they employed against the transfermen.

This game will get under way at 8.30, to be preceded by a junior struggle between Owl Drug and Douglas Tire at 7.

James Bay line-up follows: A. McKim, A. Chapman, T. McKeachie, E. McKim, R. Baker, S. Anderson, D. Bray, R. Mason, Cullin, Ball, F. Doheny, Wallace, Walker and Clarke.

Douglas Tire, Juniors—Bryant, Simpson, Scott, Barr, Pellow, Thomas, Knowles, A. Sage, Ball, V. Sage, Moffatt, Anderson, Ovcharick and Estridge.

Fishmen Turn Back Indians

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies swept to a 29 to 16 victory over North Shore Indians here last night in the Intercity Box Lacrosse League. It was the Fishmen's first win in four starts and the Indians' second straight loss.

In passing judgment the experts blamed "stiffness" as the major fault of the Indian's goalie—Bruce Hill—who was imported from Cornwall, Ont., to fill the position made vacant by the retirement of "Eagle Eye" Henry Ecer.

Salmonbellies, on the other hand, lauded their youthful netminder, Bill Scuby, who was recruited from junior ranks this year, and last night played his best game in turning back the powerful drives of the Indians.

ALFIE DAVIE STARS

Alfie Davie, the "mite" of the royal city crew, was also a standout as he led his team with five goals. John Jacobs scored a similar number for the braves.

Salmonbellies outscored Indians 6 to 3 in the first quarter, and by half-time were leading 11 to 7. They rammed in nine goals while holding the redmen to two in the third quarter and more than matched goals in the final canto.

Harry Carter and Ralph Burton were other standouts for Salmonbellies, as each sank four goals, while Jack Squires with four, and Hubie Smith with two, were other leaders for Indians.

Two five-minute penalties were meted out, one to Salmonbellies' Ed. Downey in the second for cross-checking and the other to Chubbie Smith of Indians in the third for slashing.

Adanacs and Richmond will clash in a league fixture at Vancouver tonight.

BASEBALL ORGANIZATION

The Junior Baseball League will organize this evening at 8 at Athletic Park when all clubs wishing to play in the loop, will have representatives on hand. Teams entered include Tillicums, Victoria West and Oak Bay Tigers.

WILL RACE AT SHAWNIGAN—One of the smartest craft entered in the regatta to be held at the up-island lake on May 24 is the Water Dog, above, owned by W. Van Dyke of Seattle. This inboard is rated the fastest of its type in the Pacific Northwest.

B.C. Amateur Golf

Local Entry Small

Small, but select. That is the best way to describe the Victoria entry for British Columbia men's amateur golf championship which opens bright and early Friday morning over the Marine Drive Club course, Vancouver.

Heading the local contingent will be Ted Colgate of Colwood, runner-up to champion Ken Black at Oak Bay last year. Ted stated today he was hitting the ball well and had eliminated the hook that gave him so much trouble in the recent exhibition match against Ralph Guldahl and Johnny Revolta.

Another Colwood entry will be Eddie Horsman, smooth-stroking left-hander. Ernie Brachat and Freddy Painter are entered from Gorge Vale. Oak Bay entries in the provincial affair are still doubtful. Allan Taylor, Walter and Bill Newcombe and Gordon Verley are all probable contenders. Oak Bay won the interclub team match last year, and it is expected the club will make every effort to defend the handsome Hamber trophy.

Black will be on hand to defend his title along with a formidable array of Vancouver shotmakers

U.S. ENTRY STRONG

Biggest threat will be the contingent from Washington. It will amount to a "foreign" invasion. Seattle entrants will include Harry Givan, who won the first of his two Pacific Northwest amateur titles right in Vancouver in 1936; Gerry Bert, United States public links medalist and Seattle city amateur champion last year; Ralph Whaley, runner-up for the Pacific Northwest crown in 1934 and

May 24 Program Set

Victoria will receive its first public demonstration of the work of the civilian protection committee on May 24 at the Willows as "war" planes dive, bomb special structures in the enclosure and the A.R.P. organization goes into action to care for the casualties.

The spectacular exhibition will precede a diversified program that should appeal to every taste as the city celebrates Victoria Day. Proceeds from the festivities will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Frame buildings have been erected at the Willows as targets for the planes. As their "bombs" land at 1.30 the buildings will go up in flames. The fire brigade will rush to the scene, ambulances will be in close attention, decontamination squads, wardens and other forces will spring into action in the show which should be as educational as it is entertaining.

SPORTS PROGRAM

By 2 the regular United Services field day will get under way with tugs-of-war at catch weights with 10 men to a team.

The contests will be followed by sprints for the soldiers, sailors and fliers over 100, 200 and 440 yard distances.

An obstacle race which promises to beggar any previously held here will provide an interlude of amusement, while the five-mile run for the services starts.

A 75-yard sack race, a 100-yard backwards race, a three-legged race and interservice shuttle relay will keep interest at a high pitch, prior to the bandsmen's race, a pie-eating contest, pillow fight, mounted wrestling and jousting competition in which riders will tilt the bucket. As another serious feature, the services will compete in the high jump.

SCHOOL RACES

Four races for school children, including sprints of 60 yards for grade school girls, 100 yards for grade school boys, 75 yards for high school girls and 100 yards for high school boys will introduce a youthful element into the program.

Times and Colonist carriers will participate in a bike race covering one lap of the track before the Victoria Motor Cycle Club stages its spectacular events.

A polo game between Victoria teams will catch the fancy of those equestrian-minded.

The services will claim the spotlight again in a battle royal with four men to a team.

As one of the main attractions Victorians will vie with outside contestants in perfect male and female competition for which several mainland entries have been received.

Schoolchildren and members of the army, navy and air force will be admitted free to the Willows show.

EVENING ATTRACTIONS

A fancy dress and pet parade will open the evening festivities. Entries will start the procession from the corner of Yates and Ormond Streets at 7, proceeding west down Yates Street to Blanshard and north to Pandora.

Prizes will be given for first, second and third places for both boys and girls in one class calling for fancy or comic dress. Similar awards will go to high school students in the same type of contests.

Another class calls for decorated bicycles and still another for the actual pet parade.

Adults will also be given an opportunity to participate in a fancy or comic dress division.

Cash prizes will be given for all events in the parade as well as for the sports at the Willows.

The Victoria fire department will be represented by a comic display and the Chinese Benevolent Society has entered a float, as has the Canadian Navy.

At 8 in the evening a street dance and floor show will be staged on Blanshard, between Yates and Johnson.

Half an hour later a grand bazaar and auction will take place in the Cecil Hotel grounds.

During the evening the fire department will make an illuminated run and the Canadian Crescent Shows will assist in the bazaar.

Cricket Teams Are Selected

The 1940 season of the intercity cricket series will get under way Friday, when Vancouver visit Victoria for the initial game. The match will be played at Beacon Hill, starting at 10.30.

At present Vancouver are possessors of the Flummerfelt Cup, which represents cricket supremacy between these two cities.

Eric Quainton, member of the Five C's Club, has been selected as skipper of the Victoria side. Others named to the team follow:

Jack and George Payne, Helworth, Five C's; Sparks, Victoria; Eden Quainton, Hughes, Seattle; Twite, Cowichan; G. Wenman, Incogs; Stenton, Albions; Gillespie, Victoria. W. I. Land will be official scorer and Greig, Victoria, umpire.

A strong Vancouver eleven has been chosen for the opener and will be captained by Stan Bullen of the Brockton Point Club.

Other players chosen are: Dave Carey, Jeoff Robinson, Basil Robinson and Jack Rush of University of British Columbia; A. T. Darcus, Auroras; Stan Hansen and Billy Kelloch of Burrards; Bud O'Hara and Arthur Salt of Bank of Commerce and Teddy Smyth of North Shore.

Sports Tomorrow

Annual sports of the Central Junior High School will be held tomorrow afternoon, starting at 1.30, at the Athletic Park.

Senior Softball Carded Tonight

Two senior softball games are carded for this evening, one at Athletic Park and the other at Victoria West Park. Both will start at 6.

At Athletic Park Cameron Lumber will oppose Brundson's Veterans in a replay of last week's 2 to 2 tie.

At Victoria West, Victoria Longshoremen will play Garrison.

The Athletic Park game should be the better of the two. The teams are more evenly matched. Longshoremen are favored to take the Victoria West game.

At Sidney last evening, Bull Brothers went to work on Harknett Fuel and emerged with a 11 to 2 triumph.

The suburban team pulled ahead of the fuelmen in the third inning and from then on, were never on the short end of the score. Dave Ascot pitched the win.

At Victoria West R.C.A.F. beat H.M.C. Dockyard 6 to 3 in B section competition. Runs were evenly distributed throughout the nine innings. Batteries were: R.C.A.F., Tupper and Penney; Dockyard, Comerford and Hibbert.

JEFFRA WINNER OVER ARCHIBALD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Harry Jeffra of Baltimore settled his personal grudge with Joey Archibald last night by belting out a 15-round decision over the Providence, R.I., fighter in a bout billed as a battle for the world featherweight championship.

Jeffra scored by a wide margin and won a unanimous decision that was cheered loudly by a capacity crowd of 4,500 in the Coliseum. Jeffra weighed 123½ and Archibald 122.

The Maryland and New York boxing commissioners recognized Jeffra, former bantamweight champion, as the new king of the featherweight division.

Two Baseball Games Friday

Victoria's 1940 all-star baseball club will make its season's debut Friday at the Athletic Park in a twin bill series with Bob Brown's Vancouver Athletics. The games will be played at 10.30 and 3.30. Victoria Boys' Band will be present at the morning fixture.

Unquestionably stronger than the team which performed in intercity fixtures last year, with considerable success, the 1940 squad should provide plenty of opposition for the heavy-clouting Terminal City ball tossers headed by Jimmy McKissock. With added pitching strength and new players for other berths, the Victoria team appears to be well-balanced.

NEW PITCHERS

Russ Richardson, former Vancouver hurler; Duff Waddell, ace Winnipeg portsider; Les Stobo, Port Alberni; Stan Davies and Lloyd Cann comprise the hurling staff and will be expected to give a good accouunt of themselves. For receiving duty behind the home plate, Patterson, former Port Alberni catcher, Massa Kuwabara and Bill Bridgewood will be available.

Other players who will be in uniform for the Victoria team include Al Condon, Axel Kinnear, Charlie Strouiger, Barney Barnswell, Lorne Murray, Whalen, Ray Casey and Bill Yardley, infielders; Jack Blake, Charlie Restall, Patrick, Steve Dunc and Sonny Walker, outfielders.

McFEELY-WILSON POST TOP SCORES

Victoria Skeet and Gun Club trophy shoots held Sunday on the Albert Head Road grounds saw Ted McFeely and Ellbeck "Al" Wilson post the best scores. McFeely fired the best round in the H. A. Humber Trophy competition for trapshooters, bagging 23 out of 25 clays, while Wilson led the shooters in the C.I.L. Skeet Shield competition, busting 23 out of 25 biscuits.

With bright weather prevailing, a good crowd turned out at the shooting grounds. A tricky wind made shooting interesting.

SALT LAKE CITY—Tiger Jack Fox, 182, Spokane, Wash., outpointed Al Delaney, 187, Windsor, Ont. (10).

Hayes, Heath And Higgins In Spotlight

Home run hitting being what it is today, a fellow just about has to collect them in clusters to get any notice.

There were an even 20 round trip tickets punched in the major league yesterday and the same number the day before, so you can see why most of them get lost in the shuffle. But you can't overlook three in one game, which is the little stunt Pinky Higgins of Detroit Tigers showed Boston Red Sox in beating the American League leaders 10 to 7 yesterday.

The trio of homers came on consecutive times at bat, and brought in four other runners for a total of seven tallies.

The victory was credited to Schoolboy Rowe, who went to the mound in the fifth after Jimmy Foxx had hit his 10th home run of the season with the bases loaded off Tommy Bridges. Jeff Heath of Cleveland Indians hit two as the tribe trimmed New York Yankees for the second straight time 10 to 2. The world champions yielded to their old weakness against lefthanded pitching, and were held to one hit for eight innings by Al Smith.

Another home run bombardment originated from an unsuspected quarter, Philadelphia Athletics, as they stopped St. Louis Browns 8 to 4. Frank Hayes put together two of the game's five. The only game without a home run was Chicago White Sox's 5 to 4 triumph over Washington Senators, the Sox's first victory in Chicago this season.

Cincinnati Reds were crushed 12 to 4 by Boston Bees, six of the runs coming on homers by Al Lopez and Carvell Rowell. Brooklyn dropped a 6 to 4 decision to Chicago Cubs, who beat a persistent 13-hit tattoo against four hurlers.

Pittsburgh Pirates lost another heart-breaker 8 to 7 to Philadelphia Phillies. The Pirates were leading 7 to 1, going into the ninth, the only run against Mace Brown being a homer by Chuck Klein. Then Brown developed a sore arm and three other Pittsburgh pitchers squandered the lead.

Cliff Melton, New York Giants' seasoned southpaw, shut out St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 0 on six hits.

COAST LEAGUE

The San Diego Padres, leading the Coast Baseball League by half a game, start a campaign at San Francisco tonight in an effort to pull away from the hard pressing Oakland Acorns.

The Padres lost four games out of seven to Sacramento last week, while the Acorns moved forward by taking five games from Los Angeles in a series of seven.

San Diego has a powerful pitching staff to throw into the battle against San Francisco. Dick Newsome leads the circuit's regular pitchers with seven wins out of eight starts, and Byron Humphries has won four out of five for fourth place.

Oakland travels to Seattle to open a two weeks' road trip. This week they face the third place Rainiers and then move into Portland.

Los Angeles, down to seventh place after a first division rating earlier in the season, is host to Sacramento this week.

Hollywood, winner of four games out of seven with San Francisco last week, invades Portland, cellar team which lost the odd game in last week's contests with Seattle.

Rice Is Java's Greatest Crop

If we search the world for islands with the most people, we find three which lead all others. They are Great Britain, Honshu and Java.

Beside a Java river.

In round numbers, Honshu has 48,000,000 people, Great Britain 45,000,000 and Java 40,000,000. There are no other islands, no matter what their area, which can equal the population of the three I have named.

Honshu is the largest island of the Japanese empire. On it we find fast-growing cities, among them Tokyo. The city of Tokyo now ranks third among the world's cities.

Although Java does not have such a big population as Honshu or Great Britain, it has more people to the square mile. It is only about three-fifths as large as the other two islands I have named.

Java has 820 persons to the square mile!

If it were not for rice, the island of Java could not support so many people. Rice is the great food, the largest crop.

Rice is planted in low-lying ground, and much of it is covered by water. If we watch a native ploughing a field, we see the plough being pulled by a pair of water-buffaloes. Both the man and the beasts walk through water above the ankles, perhaps even up to the knees.

Men do the work of ploughing, but the custom in Java is for women to sow the seed and reap the grain.

One acre of well-watered rice land will produce almost a ton of rice in a year. Java has an annual crop of from 7,000,000 to 9,000,000 tons of rice. This crop never fails, and the people do not suffer from lack of food.

When husks of rice are left on, they supply food with an important vitamin. A Dutch scientist in Java was the first to give the world a hint of this fact.

Natives of Java speak of a goddess named Sri. They say she watches over the rice crop. One of their stories says she once took the form of a rice-bird, and "broke off ears of rice with her bill." This story has been used to explain why natives like to cut rice stalks with small knives instead of sickles. They say they are following the method of the goddess as closely as possible.

HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, May 22

This is an unimportant day in plantetary direction. Adverse aspects appear to rule. It is a good time for routine matters and should not be employed for important acts or decisions.

The morning hours should be favorable for girls who are interested in romance, but it is more promising for intellectual than for sentimental interests. There is a good sign for new acquaintances of opposite sex. Housewives should find the day conducive to shopping. Women will be donning many types of uniforms.

In the European war surprising trade relations and other alignments are foreseen. Bolshevism, which has Uranus as the ruling planet, will continue to attempt world conquest. Effects of the conjunction of Mars and Uranus will be more and more evident as rapid development of totalitarian ambitions is demonstrated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year when personal interests should be conducted with unusual care. Friends will be helpful.

Children born on this day may be impulsive, high-strung and energetic. They may be restless and will find great happiness in travel.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to marry a boy whom I love very much, but he does not have the quick, witty personality that I admire so greatly. He is rather stolid, but I know he would make a wonderful family man. Do you think I would be wise to forget the brilliant personality that I like so much in a person and marry him? —PERPLEXED.

Answer: One of the most famous wits in this country is a personal friend of mine. Once when I was at his house his small daughter turned to him and said: "Papa, are you a humorist? I hear people call you one."

"I believe I have that reputation," replied the father.

"Huh," said the child, "I have never seen any of it around this house. What is humor, anyway? Is it something you don't use at home?"

And that is the answer. The men who set other people's dinner tables in a roar frequently don't speak at their own except to say: "Do you call this a steak, or is it a shoe sole?"

Brilliant repartee is like caviar—something we keep for company and not for everyday home consumption. And doubtless that is wise. We would find it highly indigestible and get fed up on it.

Anyway, a witty husband is a dangerous risk because the chances are that he would soon make you the butt of all of his funny stories, and by the time he had held you up for everyone to laugh at you would wish you had married a dummy. Also, you would discover that wisecracks are not so funny when they are aimed at you.

I think a good stolid family man whose conversational repertoire runs from "yes dear" to "how beautiful and wonderful you are" beats a wit as a husband every time.

DOROTHY DIX.

SEEK STATEMENT

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday dispatched an air mail letter to Prime Minister McKenzie King calling for an explanation of the Dominion government's failure so far to give any indication of its intention to accelerate its war program, in view of recent events in Europe and the danger of "fifth column" activities in Canada.

A copy of the chamber's letter will also be sent to Hon. Ian Mackenzie and R. W. Mayhew. Text of the letter follows:

"At a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors held today, very great concern was expressed by the various members over the lack of policy so far publicized by your government in connection with accelerating the whole war effort of Canada, and also to organize some means of combatting and controlling 'fifth column' activities.

"It may be that your government intends to move along these lines, but we respectfully submit that a preliminary public statement at this time would go a long way towards relieving the minds of those who have expressed so much anxiety.

"This chamber holds itself at the disposal of your government to assist to the fullest extent as a voluntary organization in any work towards the common object which you may call on us to do."

5th Column

Warned Against 'Rash Actions'

War veterans of British Columbia, demanding action against possible 5th column activties, today studied the warning of Attorney-General Wismer not to "start any rash actions."

Speaking in Vancouver last night the Attorney-General urged the veterans to submit their recommendations to Ottawa.

"We cannot have one policy here and another in Winnipeg and another in Ottawa," he said. "I would say to these loyal citizens that we must follow the leadership of the national government."

On the mainland a "sixth column" to combat "fifth column" attempts became a reality.

Representatives from 23 veterans organizations banded to form the nucleus of the body which will have as its main objective the stamping out of alleged subversive activties.

The organization which will be known as the "flying column" will function along military lines under strict discipline.

A committee headed by N. C. Robinson, president of the 31st Battallion Association, is working out organization details for a mass meeting on May 28.

So far 300 veterans have expressed their desire to enrol in the Vancouver column.

In Vancouver Wilford J. White, secretary of a newly-formed British-Canadian Allies Club, offered today to provide guards for German churches in the city which have been damaged by vandals recently.

"I feel that mob hysteria can never accomplish anything constructive," he said. "If the clergymen so desire I will see that their churches are properly guarded."

Rev. Albert Schormann, pastor of the Martin Luther Church welcomed the club's offer while Rev. E. S. Fenske, minister of the Ebenezer Baptist Church, preferred to rely on special police attention.

REGISTRATION PROCEEDS

In New Westminster Mayor Fred Hume announced approximately 300 persons had voluntarily filled out registration cards under the city's plan to list all its male citizens as a potential home defence corps.

Registration began last night and will continue every night from now on until completed.

The cards ask for the name of the registree, address, telephone number, occupation, employer, nationality, length of residence in Canada, whether he is married or single, whether he has children or not, the date and place of his birth and if he has had military experience.

In addition the following questions are asked:

"Are you willing to volunteer your services for civic needs without pay?"

"Are you willing to be sworn in as a special constable should the occasion arise?"

"Have you an automobile?"

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Across Canada anti-fifth column moves were made at several centres.

In Winnipeg resolutions demanding indefinite detention of hostile aliens, an exhaustive search for suspicious persons among home guards, and acceleration of the Dominion's mobilization were adopted unanimously at a mass meeting of the suburban St. James branch of the Canadian Legion.

T. C. Smith told the meeting before the resolutions were adopted that he has given Royal Canadian Mounted Police the names of farmers in northern Manitoba who had expressed sympathy for the German cause, and who had threatened the loyal neighbors when they protested the disloyal utterances. He said many persons with knowledge of such instances feared to report them because of possible reprisal.

A number of legionnaires protested the reported release of one Lockport, Man., resident from the federal internment camp at Kananaskis, Alta.

The Calgary police commission took definite action to guard against "fifth column" activities at a special meeting yesterday afternoon and instructed Mayor Davison to write Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King immediately, urging:

German organizations in Canada be declared illegal and the members forfeit their Canadian citizenship;

Establishment of internment camps for enemy alien women;

Centralization of all organizations investigating enemy alien activities;

The establishment of home guard units throughout Canada comprised of ex-servicemen unfit for active service;

A thorough search for firearms in the possession of people of enemy alien countries, whether naturalized or not;

Compulsory registration of all enemy aliens.

In Toronto, it was announced, a drive by the Canadian Corps Association to smother "fifth column" activities will start Thursday night with a series of mass meetings across the country.

Abe Lincoln caught the pig, and found himself face to face with Ann Rutledge, to whom he lost his heart on the spot—thus runs the legend of an early Illinois incident in the history of Lincoln. The scene shows Mary Howard as Ann and Raymond Massey as Abe, in the RKO radio picture version of the Robert E. Sherwood Pulitzer Prize drama, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," now at the Dominion Theatre.

O. C. FOOTBALL

LONDON (CP)—Bradford defeated Hartlepool 2 to 0 in an English northeastern group soccer match played yesterday. The Birmingham-Leicester City midland section tilt ended in a scoreless draw.

PLAZA THEATRE

The greatly anticipated "Today We Live," is now at the Plaza Theatre as one of the major productions from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, Joan Crawford, and Gary Cooper, who plays the leading roles, have never before appeared together on the screen.

Their first co-starring appearance is an auspicious event for it takes place in a filmization of a story by the brilliant writer, William Faulkner, whose novels, "Sanctuary" and "Light in August" created a literary furor.

CADET THEATRE

Virginia Field, auburn-haired actress, who joined Loretta Young and David Niven in the cast of Walter Wanger's "Eternally Yours," now playing an engagement at the Cadet Theatre, couldn't sit down during filming. When not busy in a scene, she leaned on an odd-looking device seldom found on a picture set and known as a leaning-board. Miss Field's rest resembled an ironing board with arms and its frame was constructed so that it stood upright at about a 30 degree angle. Her predicament was brought about by a suit she wore in scenes, made of soft velvet.

RIO THEATRE

All the fascinating characters of Louis Bromfield's great novel, "The Rains Came" are brought to life on the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of the book, which is at the Rio Theatre with Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent sharing stellar honors in the roles of the amorous Lady Esketh, the handsome Major Safti and the world-weary Tom Ransome, respectively.

RAYMOND MASSEY AT DOMINION

A man's bitter struggle with himself over a thirty-year period forms the unusual thematic basis of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," picture version of Robert E. Sherwood's famous Pulitzer Prize Play, now being shown at the Dominion Theatre.

The story deals in vivid fashion with Lincoln's own career, from an awkward and unlettered frontiersman to the newly elected president on his fateful way to Washington.

Featuring Raymond Massey, who scored so brilliantly in the title role in the original play on Broadway.

A hand-picked supporting cast is headed by Gene Lockhart, Ruth Gordon, Mary Howard, Dorothy Tree, Harvey Stephens, Minor Watson and Alan Baxter.

Deanna Durbin Film at Atlas

A grown-up Deanna Durbin appears in her newest film, "It's a Date," which opens at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

In many ways the new Joe Pasternak production is the Universal star's best picture. It has the most colorful setting — Hawaii—in which Deanna has ever appeared. Its comedy rates with the funniest ever screened and its romance is as poignant as the most successful hit-makers in Hollywood can produce.

The music, with Deanna singing four numbers, is again outstanding.

One of the star's finest supporting casts shares credit for her latest triumph. Kay Francis, as Deanna's mother, a famous and glamorous actress, returns to high favor with an excellent performance and Walter Pidgeon, as romantic interest for both Deanna and Kay, has perhaps the most successful role of his career.

CAPITOL THEATRE

What happens when a glamorous society girl with New York at her feet is suddenly exposed as a poor little shopgirl whom Fate has made a modern Cinderella, provides the sparkling, hilarious action of "Irene," now at the Capitol Theatre.

Co-starring Anna Neagle and Ray Milland, the RKO Radio lavishly-produced comedy with music is based on the famous stage success, and many of the original hit tunes, including "Alice Blue Gown," are retained.

Miss Neagle, brilliant English star, is cast as an Irish working girl whose rare beauty wins her a job modelling expensive gowns in a Fifth Avenue establishment.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Lemuel Q. Gulliver made some extensive journeys as a result of the unrestricted imagination of his creator, Jonathan Swift, but his travels were as nothing compared to the adventures of the film dealing with him—"Gulliver's Travels," Paramount's full-length Technicolor cartoon fantasy which is now at the Oak Bay Theatre. Since the film was produced at the Fleischer Studios in Miami, Florida, the negative had to be flown to Hollywood to be developed in the laboratories of the Technicolor Corporation. Figures reveal that it has thus far traveled a total of 176,800 miles by air.

Longshore Pact Not Yet Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negotiations for a new Pacific coast longshore labor contract will be resumed next Monday where they left off a month ago, Frank P. Foisie, president of the Waterfront Employers' Association, said today.

A date for resuming negotiations was set at the request of Harry Bridges, president of the and Warehousemen's Union, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organization.

Negotiations had been interrupted by the I.L.W.U. convention nearly a month ago. At the time they were dropped Bridges had proposed a long-time contract based on seven fundamentals. These were accepted in principle by employers.

Matson Freighters Sold to French

SEATTLE—On their last voyages under the American flag, the freighters Makena and Mahukona will arrive on Puget Sound this week from San Francisco to load for the east coast. The Makena is due at the Tacoma smelter today for copper shipments. She will go to Everett to complete her cargo and is expected to sail from that port Friday. The Mahukona is posted to arrive at the smelter Wednesday and at Olympia Thursday.

After being idle on San Francisco Bay nearly 10 years, the European war has called the two freighters, built on the Great Lakes in 1919, back to service. They were sold recently by the Matson Navigation Company to the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, the French Line, and after discharging their cargoes on the east coast will sail for France.

For their intercoastal voyages, the Makena and Mahukons have been chartered by the Weyerhaeuser Line. They will be changed from American to French registry on the east coast.

The Makena was built at Ashtabula, Ohio, and was launched as the Cowboy. She is of 2,729 gross tons register, 253.4 feet long, 43.6 feet beam and 25.1 feet in depth.

The Mahukona was constructed at Ecorse, Mich., and launched as the Coverun. She is 2,512 gross tons register, 253.4 feet long, 43.7 feet beam and 24.5 feet in depth.

WORLD'S GREATEST TRAVEL SYSTEM

Making Canoe Trip to Arctic

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two modern voyageurs, making a 7,500-mile canoe trip from New York to Alaska, arrived in Winnipeg yesterday after a year's travel over thousands of miles of rivers and lakes.

The voyageurs, Elkan J. Morris, 27-year-old United States author, and his wife, Anne, have found life in the open vastly different from their New York City apartment.

Since last spring they have traveled through the Erie Barge Canal to Buffalo, crossed the Great Lakes to Duluth, navigated 300 miles of lakes and rivers and 200 portages between Pidgeon River, Ont., and the Lake of the Woods in northwestern Ontario, and braved the storms of Lake Winnipeg.

When they reached Manigotogan, on the shores of Lake Winnipeg, last September, they were caught by frost. They built a loghouse in the woods, spending the winter there before resuming their voyage up the lake and into the Red River.

In the canoe, powered by an outboard motor, they carried a gun, a bow and arrow, two fishhooks and some wire to make snares for trapping rabbits and prairie chickens.

Morris plans to ship his canoe from Winnipeg to Waterways, Alta. From there they will go north on the Athabaska River to Great Slave Lake, down the Mackenzie River to the Arctic Circle, up Rat River to McDougall's Pass, Y.T., and down the Bell River, on the western slopes of the Rocky Mountains, to the Porcupine River into Alaska.

More Machines Urged for Allies

OTTAWA (CP)—It is obvious now that the machines of war are more necessary to ultimate victory than the provisions of large contingents of infantry, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., told the House of Commons last night during the throne speech debate.

"It is in the field of mechanized warfare that the Allied cause is deficient; it is in this field that Canada could and must render her greatest assistance," said Mr. Coldwell, who spoke for the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation because of the illness of leader J. S. Woodsworth.

During the election campaign, Mr. Coldwell said, many members had agreed conscription of manpower for overseas service would bring disunity and destroy Canada's effectiveness as an ally.

"Hence we believe that any policy which would even raise the demand for conscription would cause internal divisions which would have almost as disastrous an effect as the adoption of the policy by Parliament.

BLACKMORE SPEAKS

J. H. Blackmore, Lethbridge, Alta., New Democracy leader, said Canadians were told there was a war on, that they must tighten their belts, that Canada must be expected to produce great quantities of supplies and food for its Allies, and then, on the other hand, farmers were cautioned against over-production, against altering the economy of their schedule. The Social Credit leader said he could "get no sense" out of such contradictions.

VENICE—Austrian troops today fired upon Italians at Zara, an Austrian border town. The Italians, starting a demonstration, had destroyed an Austrian flag. Several were killed and a number wounded by the fire of the Austrian soldiers.

LONDON—Fierce fighting is in progress near the neck of the Gallipoli Peninsula and the troops are being assisted by the fifteen-inch guns of the super-dreadnought Queen Elizabeth which are firing on fortifications.

Today's casualty list includes Pte. John Davey, 88th Fusiliers, missing; Pte. T. A. Coulson, 50th Highlanders, wounded; Pte. William Oliff, P.P.C.L.I., killed; Pte. Joseph Tissemen, 16th battalion, missing; Pte. W. H. Ingram, missing; Pte. Leslie Ravenhill, 7th battalion, missing.

Tom Cusack and Walter Lessiner have been selected to referee Monday's Mann cup lacrosse match at the Royal Athletic Park.

Very Reverend Charles De Veber Schofield, D.D., was this morning instituted into the rectorship of Christ Church Cathedral.

185 PASSENGERS ON HEIAN MARU

Originally scheduled to arrive from Japan Friday night, Ms. Heian Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisya, will now reach William Head at 7 Saturday morning, according to advices received today by Harry Douglas, Great Northern general agent.

The Heian Maru is bringing a total of 185 passengers, 106 for Vancouver disembarkation and 79 for Seattle.

There are three first, 28 tourist and 75 third class passengers for British Columbia and 10 first, 35 tourist and 34 third class for Seattle.

The Japanese liner's cargo for Vancouver and overland transshipment amounts to 1,950 tons.

Wrecked Lighthouse

British freighter Mansepool, known in the British Columbia lumber trade, created a sensation last month at the Rumanian port of Constanza, Black Sea, when she crashed into a pier and demolished a lighthouse. The Rumanian authorities claimed the damage to the lighthouse was about $200,000. The Mansepool suffered structural damage.

Anxious for Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Dyke of Maple Bay, Vancouver Island, are anxious for the safety of their daughter, Winnie, who had planned to sail from Rotterdam aboard the Veendam for New York about the time the Nazis invaded the Low Countries.

The Van Dyke's were notified by Holland-America Line agents that the departure of Veendon, originally scheduled to sail from Rotterdam April 25, had been changed to May 12. It is believed the sailing of the ship may have been speeded by the invasion.

New Australian Ship

Swedish Ms. Kanangoora of the Transatlantic Steamship Company of Gothenburg has been added to the Australasian service, of which the Empire Shipping Company Limited are B.C. agents.

The Kanangoora, a sister ship to the Goonawarra, is one of the latest types of passenger-freight motorships. She is 6,000 deadweight tons, 430 feet long and develops a speed of 18 knots. Fine accommodations for 12 passengers, all outside cabins, are located on the bridge deck.

Other ships of the B.C.-Australasian service are the Mirrabooka, Parrakoola, Kookaburra and Tisnaren.

Du Ponts Reorganize Their Company

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Two of the three brother monarchs of the vast Du Pont industrial empire have abdicated in a wholesale reorganization which lifted younger men to the management of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company.

Pierre S. du Pont, the 70-year-old ruling elder of the famous Delaware clain, retired as chairman of the board after 21 years in that position. Nearly half a century ago he started work as a chemist, with the company founded by an ancestor, Eleuthere Irenee du Pont, who ran out of musket powder on a hunting trip and decided to build his own powder factory.

Lammot du Pont, 59, stepped from the presidency he had held since 1926 to chairman of the board, and was succeeded by Walter S. Carpenter Jr., 52, the second man other than a Du Pont to head the company in its 138-year-old history. He also resigned as chairman of the executive committee.

Irenee du Pont, 63, who once proposed that chemists find "an antidote for sleep" to increase man's working capacity, resigned as vice-president of the board of directors, but with his oldest brother will continue as member of the board and the finance committee. He was president of the company from 1919 to 1926.

BRITISH PLANE GUNS BUSY OFF COAST

LONDON (CP)—Heavy rumbling like distant thunder was heard tonight in the east coast towns of Great Yarmouth and Gorleston, stirring speculation among residents that it was gunfire on the continent.

Doors were shaken and crockery rattled on the shelves in seashore homes.

Old timers recalled they often hears continental artillery fire in the last war.

Intense anti-aircraft fire off the southeast coast of England was heard twice in the afternoon, mingled with the drone of airplane engines high overhead.

Despite repeated warning to keep under cover, people thronged into the streets to look. No planes could be seen. The sound of motors seemed to come from the English Channel south of the Strait of Dover where England is nearest France.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Weakness on outside markets, together with declining stock market prices and general lack of support, forced wheat futures quotations to lower levels on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Exporters and mills remained on the sidelines.

Chicago slipped about 3 while Beunos Aires was off almost the same amount near the half-way mark.

Commission house selling induced by bearish reports from the European war fronts clipped small amounts from all coarse grain prices except those of flax. Moderate crusher interest held flax values above the previous close throughout most of the session although slight weakness crept in near the close.

Cash wheat operators displayed fair demand for most grains but few actual deals were transacted.

Western farmers delivered 121,000 bushels of wheat to country elevators yesterday compared with 284,000 unloaded on the same day a year ago.

CHICAGO (AP) — Overshadowed by news of continued German successes and pegged by minimum prices under which they could not go, wheat fluctuated rapidly and widely today in a range of about 3 cents and at times as much as 4½ cents under yesterday's close.

Maximum losses, however, were pared frequently and much of the time the market held steady at net losses of about 2 cents for the day. Trade was sensitive to moderate buying and selling orders.

At their lows wheat futures were within 2 cents of minimums established; corn within about 1½ cents. Soy beans reached maximum levels.

Spies Aid Nazis Bombing in France

By DREW MIDDLETON

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE (AP), Delayed—The German air force, sowing death by day and night, has bombed objectives far behind the fighting lines in 72 hours of extensive operations.

(Note: This dispatch was written before Middleton returned to London with other correspondents.)

At the same time, the raiding planes undoubtedly are aided by spies working with Nazi parachute troops, who destroy communication lines, signal fliers at night, gather military information and encourage panic behind the lines by wild rumors of defeat.

Until the confused situation on the western front settles into some form of stabilization, such operations are expected to continue, with the Allies taking what measures they can, where they can, to meet them.

The town in which I am writing is packed with refugees, some Dutch, some Belgian, some French.

Here, as elsewhere, counter espionage is handicapped by these surges of population. With an entire nation on the move, all a parachutist needs to become a "refugee" is a bicycle, tattered clothes and a forged identification card.

Rumors run through every town. False reports are spread of a revolution in Paris.

The bombing alone is bad enough. Two nights ago I crouched beside a wall as three bombs shattered a hotel 100 yards away. Last night I slept in an air raid shelter where I could hear the bursting of bombs and the crack of anti-aircraft fire.

Losses Reach 13 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — War stocks today led the market in one of the widest breaks in two years.

Losses ran to 13 or more points for Pivotal Steels, Aircrafts, Electrical Equipments, Coppers, Motors and Chemicals. The ticker tape frequently was behind floor dealings on the downswing, slowing on feeble recovery shifts. Quotations were above the lows in most cases at the close with dealings speedy. Transfers were around 4,000,000 shares, biggest turnover since last September.

Utilities and rails were lesser sufferers than others, but they were well down at the finish.

Conspicuous losers included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Boeing, Lockheed, Sperry, General Motors, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, Philip Morris, Loft, Standard Oil of N.J., Anaconda, American Smelting, Kennecott, Du Pont, East Pont, Eastman Kodak, J. I. Case, Sears Roebuck and Great Northern.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

30 industrials	114.13	off 8.40
20 rails	22.15	off 1.83
15 utilities	18.34	off 1.15
